Catarrh to Consumption.
Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.
But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.
Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise; price, $1.

Republican Senators Agree to Pass a Tariff Bill.

SO A LONG SESSION IS PROBABLE

The House Passes the Land Court Bill—The Senate Passes 127 Bills in Fifty Minutes —An Insane Congressman.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A tariff conference of republican senators was held at Senator Evarts's residence to-night, at which a decision was reached that the finance committee shall prepare a tariff bill as a substitute for the Mills bill, and that it shall then be reported to the senate and taken up and passed, regardless of the length of time this may require.

Various propositions looking to an early adjournment and postponement of the tariff battle until December were suggested, but the arguments advanced by the advocates of the policy of passing a bill and making a direct issue as early as possible were so strong that the assemblage became emphatically unanimous in favor of it, and finally adopted that policy.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Passage of the Bill to Establish a United States Land Court.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The house took up and considered the bill to establish a United States land court, and to provide for judicial investigation and settlement of private land claims in the territories of Arizona and New Mexico and the state of Colorado. It establishes a United States land court, to consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, appointed by the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate.

Smith of Arizona offered an amendment exempting Arizona from the provisions of the bill, contending that it would prove to be a great hardship to bona fide settlers in that territory.

McCreary of Kentucky inquired whether the gentleman had not received a petition from the Bar Association of Arizona in favor of the bill.

Smith—That is it. The land grant lawyers will get very rich out of this, if this bill is passed.

McCreary contended that justice to the people of Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado, as well as justice to the people of Arizona, and to the United States government, demanded that the private land claims of the territories should be settled, and he argued that the pending bill presented the best practical method of settlement.

Joseph of New Mexico favored the bill, declaring that the people of his territory were a unit in advocating its passage.

Symes of Colorado supported the bill as being in the interest of small settlers in his state and in the territories mentioned.

Thomas of Wisconsin opposed the amendment, asserting that in Arizona the most solid, reckless and gigantic schemes of robbers had been attempted in relation to land grants.

An amendment was adopted reducing from forty to twenty years the period of continuous occupancy that shall be evidence of title of ownership.

An amendment was adopted giving the right of appeal from the department court to the court in banc in all cases.

Smith's amendment exempting Arizona from the provisions of the bill was adopted, 40 to 29, and the bill as amended was passed 70 to 21.

The house then took a recess, the evening session to be for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on war claims.

Nothing was accomplished at the evening session, the time being spent in useless filibustering.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

The Naval Appropriation Bill and 127 Pension Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Cullom offered a preamble and resolution reciting published statement—that the Minneapolis, Sault Ste Marie & Atlantic railroad, and the Duluth, South Shore & South Atlantic railway, have passed into control of the Canadian Pacific railway; that these two railways control all the approaches to the bridge over the St. Mary's river on the boundary line between the United States and Canada; that ownership of that bridge is also in the Canadian Pacific, and that, by virtue of this monopoly, the Canadian Pacific railway, operated in the interest of a foreign government, is able to ignore and defeat the operation of the interstate commerce bill; and directing the committee on interstate commerce to inquire into these matters, and whether any legislation is necessary to protect the interest of the United States. It was laid over till to-morrow.

The senate then resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill, the pending question being on amendments striking out of the bill the item for the expenses of a commission to locate a navy yard and docks on the Gulf coast.

Mitchell moved to add to the clause a like provision for the selection of a site on the Pacific coast, in Oregon, Washington territory or Alaska; agreed to.

Plumb moved to reduce the appropriation from $25,000 to $15,000; agreed to.

Finally the amendment was rejected—yeas 19, nays 24, so the provision was retained in the bill, modified, on motion of Reagan, by including the Mississippi river. The clause now appropriates $15,000, for the expenses of three officers, to be appointed by the secretary of the navy, to report as to the most feasible location on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, or on the Mississippi river, for a navy yard and docks for shipping; and for the expenses of sounding and surveying, and estimating the expenses; and directs a like commissioner for the Northern Pacific coast, $5000 of the $15,000 to be applicable to to that purpose.

The next vote was on the amendment to strike out of the bill the words "at least one of said vessels shall be built in the navy yards of the United States." The amendment was agreed to, and then the bill passed.

The senate bill appropriating $7500 for a public building at Allentown, Pa., was passed. The Allentown bill vetoed by the president appropriated $10,000.

The senate then proceeded to pass private pension bills on the calendar, and disposed of all of them, 127, in fifty minutes. Adjourned.

NORTHWESTERN NOTES.

Passage of a Bill of Great Interest to W. T. Settlers.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—In the report of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller, showing the operations of his bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, the aggregate collections for the district of Oregon were $176,235 93.

Delegate Voorhees, at a special session of the house last night, secured the passage of his bill legalizing the act of the legislature of Washington territory of December 5, 1869, authorizing the county commissioners to lease school lands. This legislative bill was nullified by an act of congress of February, 1885, and settlers have since been harrassed and prosecuted, and endured great hardships. A United States attorney has been busy for three months past drawing indictments against honest settlers and lessees, who believed the territorial legislative act valid. Delegate Voorhees says this bill is the most important he has had passed during this session, and that not less than 5000 honest pioneers will be relieved and rendered happy by it. The bill has already passed the senate.

Representative Morrow has received a letter signed by prominent business men of San Francisco, asking him to reconsider his refusal to be a candidate for congress from the Fourth district. Morrow has not yet finally determined what he will do in the matter.

The comptroller of currency has authorized the Wallowa National bank, of Enterprise, Or., to begin business, with a capital of $50,000. R. M. Stick is president and Wm. R. Holmes cashier.

CONGRESSMAN HOPKINS INSANE.

A New York Member Taken to an Asylum by His Brother.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Congressman Hopkins of New York was taken to an insane asylum yesterday by his brother. He has been acting queer for some time past, in fact ever since he came to congress. He owes bills all over town. He first took a handsome house in a fashionable quarter of town and with flunkeys galore and a handsome pair of trotters made a big splurge. He was admitted to the Metropolitan club, but they expelled him because he gave worthless checks. His case is a sad one. He was scarcely in the house, because he seldom or never attended sessions. He is a democrat.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The select committee appointed by the house to investigate the charges of inclusion of improper matter in the rebellion records during publication has resumed its inquiry. Representative Grosvenor, Gen. Boynton and Capt Bryan, foreman of the government printing office, testified. Nothing important was developed.

Postmaster-General Dickenson to-day issued a circular, instructing postmasters that under the provisions of the postoffice appropriation bill recently passed by congress, postage on seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants will be charged at the rate of 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. The former rate was 1 cent per ounce.

An increased pension has been granted Pierrepont H. B. Moulton, Emmett, Idaho.

Postoffices were established to-day at Ruddock, Umatilla county, Oregon, and at Palmer, King county, Washington territory, Isaac Ruddock and Miss Emilie Peterson were appointed postmaster and postmistress of the respective offices.

Millions for Defense.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The senate committee on appropriations has agreed to report an amendment to the army appropriation bill appropriating between $6,000,000, and $7,000,000 for the establishment of a gun factory in West Troy, New York, and for the manufacture of coast defense guns. One section of the amendment appropriates $750,000 for the erection of necessary buildings, and their equipment with machinery and fixtures. Another section appropriates $5,000,000 for the purchase of steel for high power coast defense guns of eight, ten, and twelve-inch caliber. An appropriation is also proposed for the purchase of torpedoes.

To Prevent Adulteration.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The house committee on agriculture has decided to report to the house the Lee bill to prevent the sale and manufacture, or transportation of adulterated articles of food, drink and drugs. Also a substitute for Butterworth's bill defining lard and imposing a tax on compound lard, and regulating its sale, importation and exportation.

Biggs a Sick Man.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Representative Biggs of California, who came from his apartments to the house long enough to vote for the Mills bill, has not appeared in the house since. He is a sick man, and will leave for home as soon as he gains enough strength to travel.

For a Light-Ship off the Columbia.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Mitchell to-day proposed an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, to appropriate $80,000 for the establishment of a lightship, to be provided with a flag-signal apparatus, outside the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river, Oregon.

STATE BOARD OF FORESTRY.

Interesting Facts Brought Out at a Meeting in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—At a meeting of the state board of forestry this afternoon a comprehensive review of its work since its establishment in 1885 was read by Hon. Abbott Kinney. California more than any other State will feel the disastrous effect of forest destruction, and the commissioners have therefore had bills introduced into every recent congress, giving control of mountain forests to properly constituted forest officers.

A marked increase in the sale of forest lands is noted. One hundred and forty acres were taken up prior to June 1, 1887, and since then and up to May, 1888, there have been 80,000 acres taken.

The board has commenced the collection of a museum of forestry, and also undertaken the establishment in different climatic belts of the state, of experimental stations, to ascertain what trees are best for each locality. One at Chico and one at Santa Maria have been established, and the board has offers of eighty acres at Pasadena, 100 near San Diego, forty near Merced, and forty on the Colorado river.

At the end of the year the board will turn over to the state property worth $75,000, and 225,000 trees ready for next year's planting.

The report of Special Agent Behan, who represents the board in the South, stated that he has examined the forests and water courses contiguous to Los Angeles, and finds that the volume of water in the streams has diminished fully 50 per cent. by only partial denudation of forests on the water sheds.

THE ADMISSION OF CHINESE.

The Impeachment and Removal of Judge Sawyer Demanded.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—At a mass meeting of citizens this evening a memorial was drawn for presentation to congress, setting forth that 9000 Chinese have been landed on writs of habeas corpus since 1884, and that the violation of law has been accomplished through the agency of the federal courts. The memorial further charges that there are now 4000 Chinese in San Francisco without certificates, who have been landed on writs of habeas corpus, and who are now out on bail. In conclusion the memorial demands the impeachment and removal of Lorenzo Sawyer, judge of the United States circuit court of the ninth circuit, and George M. Sabin, district judge for the district of Nevada.

A SECOND MATE IN IRONS.

Because He Fell in Love with the Captain's Young Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The ship Solitaire arrived from New York to-day, with John Wright, second mate, in irons. Wright suddenly fell in love with Capt. Sewell's young wife, and nothing but a strong iron chain could restrain his passion. Capt. Sewell's voyage around the Horn to this point was his wedding trip. "I discovered," says Capt. Sewell, "that the fellow used to sneak down to the cabin when he ought to have been on deck performing his duty, and listen to conversations between my wife and myself. I warned him to desist, and as he continued to disobey me I chained him."

SUICIDE OF AN EX-SHERIFF.

Despondency Caused by Drink Induces Him to Blow His Head Off.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Charles Jansen, former sheriff of Sacramento county, committed suicide at his home here early this morning in a most shocking manner. He used a double-barreled shotgun and tied a handkerchief from the toes of his right foot to the triggers, so that both barrels were discharged at once, blowing one side of his face and half of his head off and spattering his brains against the ceiling of the room, making a most sickening sight. It is supposed that despondency from drink and lameness caused it.

SHALL WOMEN VOTE?

The Test Case Before the Territorial Supreme Court.

ARGUMENT HEARD ON BOTH SIDES.

The Court Takes the Case Under Advisement, and Adjourns Until August—Other Proceedings.

OLYMPIA, W. T., July 25.—The famous case of Nevada M. Bloomer, appellant vs. John Todd, J. E. Gandy and H. A. Clarke, commonly known as the woman suffrage test case, came up before the supreme court this morning. There were but few persons present, owing probably to the fact that judges Greene and Dennison had failed to put in an appearance, many thinking that the case would be rather one-sided under the circumstances.

Previous to the opening of the case the court stated that a telegram had been received from Judge Greene, asking that further time be granted in which to file a brief. He was given till August 1.

FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Mr. Murray, for appellant, presented the case as an appeal from the judgment of the district court of the fourth judicial district of Washington territory, holding terms at Spokane Falls, upon a demurrer by defendants to plaintiff's complaint. Counsels briefly showed the plaintiff to be a woman, and unless disqualified by reason of her sex a qualified elector last April. The defendants were judges of the election held in the same month. It was shown that the plaintiff presented herself at the usual polling place and offered the judges a printed ballot, and this the judges refused to receive. The action was brought to recover $5000 damages from the defendants for depriving her of the privilege of voting.

Counsel made the following pleadings: That the privilege of suffrage may be granted at the will of the sovereign governing power. That congress has the sovereign power to legislate for the territories. It may exercise that power directly, or delegate it to a territorial legislative assembly, but in case of delegation it has the power to approve or disapprove. That congress has seen fit to provide that the legislative power in the territories shall be vested in the governor and legislative assembly, and that the legislative power shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States, one of these subjects being the qualification of voters, which counsel contended was a rightful subject over which congress has, in the territories, sovereign power, either to act itself, or to delegate the power to the territorial legislature. That the failure of congress for many years to abrogate the suffrage law of Wyoming territory showed that it assented to woman suffrage. Neither had congress disapproved of the Washington territory law on the same subject.

It was pleaded that the supreme court of the United States recognized the rights of territories to confer the right of suffrage on women. Counsel cited the case of Murphy and others vs. Ramsey in support of this proposition.

It was contended that the subject of woman suffrage is within the control of the sovereign power; that no reason exists why this power of suffrage should not be exercised by the women, and that women are citizens in the full meaning of the statutes. Counsel cited cases in support of each of the pleadings presented.

AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Judge Turner commenced his argument at 10:30, and occupied the time of the court until noon in presenting the brief of appellees. The only question largely treated upon was as to whether women are qualified electors under the laws of this territory. Counsel contended that the suffrage law approved in January is in conflict with the organic act of this territory. His first proposition was that section five of the organic act should be read as if the word "male" were inserted before the word "citizen," and that no other interpretation thereof could be had.

Other conflicts between the present woman suffrage act and the organic act noted by counsel were as follows: The right of suffrage is not restricted as required by the third clause of section 1860 of the revised statutes; the first provision of the territorial act is in exact accordance with the revised statutes; that the second provision rendered the first nugatory. Suffrage is conferred on American half-breeds by the legislative act, but this is only conferred on citizens by the organic act. The Indian must not only have adopted the habits of the whites, but he must reside separately from any tribe of Indians. The organic act further requires that not only shall the party take an oath to support the government of the United States, but also to support the provisions of the organic act.

The learned counsel cited many cases in support of his argument, and was listened to with deep attention. Recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the opening of court Chief Justice Jones informed the bar that the court would adjourn to-day until August 13, when all cases now on trial would then be decided. The following decisions were then rendered:

Parker vs. Denny; affirmed, with modifications as to compensation.

U. S. vs. Blue Jacket; affirmed.

Prewett vs. Baker; decision reversed.

Davis & Son vs. Oldakers; judgment reversed and the case sent back.

All other cases, except those on trial, were continued to the January term.

Mr. A. S. Austin, amicus curiæ, then took up the argument for appellant and spoke for half an hour, after which Col. Haines began his argument, and in his hour's talk swept away many of the cobwebs that seemed to hang around the case. He proposed to discuss the proposition as a question of law only. He thought the only question is whether a woman has a ballot in this territory. He would not refer to the objections made by Judge Turner, as he considered them unanswerable. He was anxious to see this question settled now and forever, so that the courts would not be hampered in the future as they had been in the past year or two. To decide the case in favor of appellant it would be necessary to revolutionize the entire law regarding the sexes. Counsel gave particular attention to the matter of admitting women to practice as attorneys. He asked if it could be believed for a moment that it was the intention of the founders of the constitution to enable women to become eligible to the office of delegate to congress or president of the United States? Yet the intention of these men, and of all law makers, should be taken into consideration when considering such questions.

After citing a number of cases strongly bearing on the points of his argument, the learned counsel took his seat and was followed in a closing argument by Mr. Murray, after which the case was taken under advisement. Court then adjourned to August 13 at 2 o'clock.

CALIFORNIA.

Personal and General Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The philanthropist who generously donated $30,000 to six churches a few days ago, five of which are in this city, turns out to be A. Montgomery, now a resident of this city, and a millionaire. It is said by those conversant with such matters that the gift is the largest ever given to any church in the city by a person not a member of the church which his money benefited. Montgomery, although an outsider, says he sees much more force and power in the church, and that he believes in helping them.

The private car of M. M. Kirkman, controller of the Chicago & Northwestern, was at Oakland pier to-day. Kirkman and party of eleven friends are visiting the coast, having left Chicago on the 9th inst. for that purpose. They have taken in the Yosemite and Southern California, and left to-night for Portland, to return home via the Northern Pacific.

Walter Neustadt, the half-interest swindler who was recently sentenced to serve a long term in the county jail for complicity with Pilcher and Hamburg in swindling Parker, the Oregon rancher, out of $10,000, has been transferred to the receiving hospital and made assistant steward.

H. H. Knighton, gripman on the cable car which ran over and killed Joseph Leary, a cripple, last night, surrendered this morning. A charge of manslaughter was entered against him and he was then released on his own recognizance.

Second Lieut. Wm. E. Shipp, of the Tenth cavalry, has been ordered to report to the commanding general of the department of the Columbia on August 13, to assist in conducting the division rifle competition at Vancouver.

Col. Fred Crocker has presented the Alliance club of Oakland with two boxes of silk flags, such as were used in the Chicago convention, for distribution among the members.

W. P. Babcock, general Eastern passenger and freight agent of the Chicago & Northwestern at Omaha, has been offered the position made vacant by the death of A. P. Stanwood, formerly general agent for that road on this coast. In case Babcock accepts the position, an assistant will be placed in the Chicago & Northwestern office here, Babcock remaining at Omaha.

J. C. Flood, the millionaire of this city, has been advised by Parisian physicians to reside at Homburg, and has moved to that place from Carlsbad. He is recovering from the effects of his kidney trouble.

By order of the treasury department, the revenue cutter Corwin is now attached to this port, in place of the Rush, subject to order of Collector Hager, for duty in connection with the customs service.

A telegram which was received yesterday stated that the steamer Umatilla had left Victoria with four hundred pounds of opium in eight trunks. The Umatilla was thoroughly searched after her arrival here, but no opium has yet been found.

The schooner Orion, which sailed yesterday for Cook's Inlet, Alaska, returned to port to-day with the loss of her jibboom, which was carried away during a gale encountered this morning.

This morning the wrecking schooner Whitelaw returned from the wreck of the bark Otago of Seattle. All that she recovered was the sails. The waves were breaking over the bark when the Whitelaw left, and she was rapidly going to pieces when deserted by the wrecker.

The Teachers Stop at Stockton.

STOCKTON, July 25.—The teachers' association arrived this afternoon. There were ten passenger coaches, containing 600 Eastern teachers. The visitors were met by the city officials and a large delegation of citizens. The mayor cordially bid them welcome, and tendered them the freedom of the city. The guests were escorted to the agricultural pavilion, which had been handsomely decorated for the occasion, and regaled with a sumptuous banquet. To-night there was a promenade concert at the pavilion. The hotel expenses of all the teachers will be paid by the Stockton board of trade. The teachers will remain over to-morrow.

Before the concert the teachers visited the gas wells and flour mills where natural gas is being used for illumination. The programme for to-morrow will be excursions to Lodi, where the citizens give a banquet, and to other points near Stockton, and a steamboat excursion up the river.

The Grand Army Encampment.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Col. Goodman, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a circular suggesting the following itinerary for the delegation from California to the national encampment: "Leave Los Angeles on the evening of a date to be decided upon. Leave San Francisco on the next evening, joining those from Southern California at Sacramento, and proceed northward and eastward via Shasta, Portland, Tacoma, St. Paul and Chicago. It is expected that the Oregon delegation will take the same train from Portland, and the Washington delegation from Tacoma, the Pacific delegations thus jointly accompanying Commander-in-Chief Rea and staff from St. Paul or Minneapolis to Columbus.

The Southern Pacific Reduces Rates.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—An Examiner special from El Paso, Texas, says: The Southern Pacific Company announces a reduction on freight rates between El Paso and California points. The reduction went into effect on July 23. Rates between El Paso and San Francisco are the same as between El Paso and New Orleans, and rates between El Paso and Los Angeles the same as between El Paso and Galveston. The reduction is about 30 per cent. It will have a marked effect in some lines of shipments, notably sugar. The supply of sugar for this section of country will be drawn from California instead of from New Orleans, as heretofore.

Fire Destroys a Pork Packery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—A one-story frame building 125 feet in length, used as a slaughter, smoke and lard rendering house, by Roth, Blum & Co., pork packers, was burned this afternoon. Considerable stock and some live hogs were consumed and much machinery destroyed or rendered useless. The loss is estimated at $50,000, with insurance of $35,000. The building of the North Point Packing Company and the works of the Central Gas Company were saved by great efforts by the firemen.

Arrivals.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Arrivals—Steamer Umatilla, Victoria; bark Cassandra Adams, Tacoma; steamer Oregon, Portland; bark Gen. Fairchild, Seattle. Clearance—Bark Seminole Port Townsend. Departures—Ships Richard the Third and Spartan, Seattle; ship Commodore, Port Townsend.

A Drop in Sugar.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Sugar declined one-quarter of a cent a pound on all grades in this city to-day.

OTHER COAST DISPATCHES.

Colfax Items.

COLFAX, W. T., July 25.—George Busbey, while driving a band of horses, was thrown from his horse and broke his leg.

Harvesting has begun, with good prospects of a large crop.

F. M. Ellsworth will rebuild his mill at once. His loss is not so great as first supposed. The machinery can partly be saved. He has no insurance.

The Colfax baseball club are in active training, and anxious to cross bats with the champions of Pendleton.

Ship Captains Change Around.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 25.—Capt. Darrah has resigned from the ship Mary Glover to accept command of the tug Pioneer, vice Capt. Thos. Grant, resigned, who will probably soon take charge of one of the larger tug boats plying on the Sound. John Jameson, late chief officer of the Jeremiah Thompson, will be captain of the Mary Glover. Capt. Olson has retired from command of the brig Deacon and has been succeeded by Capt. Auger, late first officer of the bark Emline Wilder.

Interstate Commerce Commission.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 25.—The interstate commerce commission began a hearing to-day of several cases in relation to Northwestern railroad rates. A number of railroad managers and the Iowa railroad commissioners are present.

Kansas Republican Convention.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 25.—The republican state convention assembled this morning.

The committees were not ready to report at the evening session and an adjournment was taken until morning.

Pullman reservations made for all points east via the Northern Pacific Railroad. Office, No. 2 Washington street.

A THIEF'S RICH HAUL.

He Gets Away with $10,000 in Gold Coin.

PROBABLY STOLEN IN PORTLAND

The Money Taken from the Astoria Express Box—Interesting Items from Various Points Throughout the Northwest.

ASTORIA, Or., July 25.—On the steamer that left Portland last Saturday night for this city was a Pacific Express Company's box with a way bill calling for one package of $10,000. When the steamer arrived here Sunday morning, H. D. Thing, clerk in the express office here, found that the express box did not contain a $10,000 package, so he telegraphed to the Portland office, and notified C. P. Upshur, the express agent here, immediately upon his arrival from Helena, Montana.

A sack containing $10,000 in gold coin had been delivered to the express company at the office in Portland Saturday afternoon by the Commercial National bank, to be delivered to the bank of I. W. Case, of this city.

Immediately upon the discovery of the loss the express company paid I. W. Case $10,000, and instituted search. Detectives were in this city searching for a clue, but without success. It is believed that the coin was not in the express box when the boat left Portland for Astoria. The pursers on the O. R. & N. boats, on which express is carried, are paid $10 a month to look after the box. They have keys usually to open the box and also check the way bills and deliver the box to a wagon at the wharf here. On this particular occasion there was a new purser, Struble, who was on his first trip and did not have a key, so the box was unopened from the time of leaving Portland till its arrival at the express office here.

The matter thus far has been kept quiet, in hopes of apprehending the thief. Large coin shipments, aggregating millions, have been sent by express from Portland to this city, but this is the first loss that ever occurred, of any magnitude, in the history of the business on the lower Columbia.

LEWIS COUNTY NEWS.

A New Sawmill—Good Hay Crop—County Politics—Flour Mill at Toledo.

WINLOCK, W. T., July 25.—The hay crop now being harvested is as good as ever seen in this or any other county, and the weather has been excellent for properly caring for it. Good timothy hay is worth $7 in the field here.

Prescott & Veness of Salem, Oregon, have bought the Rhoveles mill, and will entirely renovate it, erect a new building, put in new and improved machinery, with steam power, and use the water as auxiliary, and in all ways make it a first-class mill of about 40,000 feet per day capacity. They have secured a fine body of timber, and being experienced in their business ought to do well for themselves, as well as for the town. There is room for another good mill or two, for which the town will give free sites.

The delinquent tax list, just published in the Pilot, shows but 152 delinquents in the county, 68 of which are non-resident. A good many of the resident delinquents are upon railroad lands, and are unpaid because heretofore purchasers did not consider they ought to pay as long as the railroad company did not pay. But most of them will now come forward and settle.

The Lewis county teachers' institute to be held at Chehalis August 6-11 promises to be an interesting affair, as the territorial board and superintendent of public schools will hold their meeting at the same time and place. Teachers and educators from all parts of the territory are expected to be present.

Politics are becoming somewhat rife in the county, especially among would-be candidates, and the woods are full of the sly workers. The office in greatest demand seems to be that of probate judge, for which there are half a dozen or more aspirants. Next comes that of sheriff, with about the same number announced with several precincts to hear from. The assessor's place is about as good as any of them, but only three candidates have as yet manifested their desires. But there is plenty of time. These are all republicans; so far there does not seem to be an insatiable desire among democrats to secure any kind of a nomination. It is probable the people generally will interest themselves this year considerably in nominations, especially as to county commissioners. Everyone feels that in the matter of internal improvements, especially as to roads and county buildings, the commissioners for years have been remiss in their duty, and men of activity are now wanted. The Pilot has lately been giving the road business a stirring up, which many people are just beginning to realize was needed. There is positively not a decent road in the county.

Revenue officers Hicks, Stroud and Whitaker went over to Toledo last week and surveyed the new distillery. Pete Esser of Portland will be storekeeper, and business will be commenced September 1.

The citizens of Toledo have undertaken to raise a stock company and put machinery into the new flour mill building erected there by P. Brons & Sons. About $6000 is already subscribed, and with $3000 more the work can be done. An effort is also being made to work up some sort of a combination to bring a light draft steamboat to the Cowlitz river. The proposition now is for all shippers to sign an agreement to give their entire patronage to any man who will furnish a suitable boat. The trade of the Cowlitz is worth going after and such a scheme ought to succeed.

A big campmeeting will be held at Winlock, commencing August 3. The railroad company will sell tickets for a fare and a fifth for the round trip and a big time is anticipated.

GREAT DEMONSTRATIONS.

Successful First Trip of a Steamer to the Okanogan Country.

ELLENSBURG, W. T., July 25.—The steamer City of Ellensburg left Port Eaton, thirty-two miles east of Ellensburg, on the Columbia Thursday morning, July 19, and ran through to a point seven miles up the Okanogan river on Saturday evening. On account of having to get all the wood necessary to run from drift piles along the river, many hours were consumed in gathering wood. The entire running time between Port Eaton and Okanogan landing was twenty-six hours.

After unloading forty tons of freight, the proprietors of the line, Nixon and Post who were aboard, had Capt. W. P. Gray, one of the most competent men in the territory, run the boat up to Foster creek forty, ten miles above the mouth of the Okanogan river, and 550 miles from the mouth of the Columbia. The run over Cabinet, Rock Island and Methow rapids was made with but little difficulty. At Three Points she had to be lined a few hundred feet.

There is no danger connected with the trip, and for scenery it cannot be surpassed on the continent. The landscape along the river is grand. This steamer opens up and demonstrates the practicability of an entirely new route to the famous Wenatchee, Methow and Okanogan valleys, and the great hunters and fishers resort of this continent, Lake Chelan, besides supplying that immense inland empire known as the Big Bend country and the celebrated Ruby and Conconully mining district.

It had been prophesied by many that it was impossible to run a steamer on the upper Columbia river, and many bets were made that the steamer, which is the smallest one belonging to the company, would never make the trip; but she surprised her owners and captain in her magnificent behavior in swift water, and the speed made on driftwood fuel. People along the route were overjoyed to see the steamer at their door, and expressed their delight by waving hats and bonnets and firing guns and pistols. At one place, where the man of the house was evidently away from home, a woman stood on the bank of the river with a shotgun and proceeded to load and fire in the true frontier style.

At Ruby City, as the party from the boat drove into town, the citizens had blasts arranged along the foot of the mountain firing off one after another as salutes. They also served the party with a fine wine supper.

At Conconully the entire population was out to meet the stage.

From where the boat landed on the Okanogan on this trip to Ruby City was twenty-seven miles. There were on the boat as passengers: Knox Johnson of Sprague, L. F. Cook and F. N. Barney of Tacoma and Sam Leichtenstadter.

The steamer left Okanogan river on her return at 11:30 A. M. Tuesday, arriving at Port Eaton at 1:10 P. M., making the trip in seven hours and forty-five minutes, including stoppages for wood and business.

Louis L. Nixon and Capt. Gray, who arrived on the coach from Port Eaton, were tendered a banquet to-night by the citizens of Ellensburg, who are rejoicing over the successful new route to the mines and the successful trial trip of the steamer.

The steamer will make the return trip Tuesday. Passengers will leave Ellensburg by coach for Port Eaton Monday to connect with her.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

Transportation News From the Upper Country—Local Notes.

WALLA WALLA, July 25.—Capt. E. W. Baughman, who ran the first steamboat up the Snake river, is in town. He says a train did not run over the Riparia bridge yesterday, as reported, as eighty feet yet remains uncompleted. The bridge will soon be ready for trains. Work has been delayed on account of a scarcity of material. Work is progressing on the permanent structure. There are four boats on the Snake river at present—the Almota, Annie Faxon, John Gates and Spokane. The Almota is the only boat making regular trips. The Faxon is a new boat, only having made a few trips last fall before being laid up for the winter. She is now at Riparia, receiving a new passenger cabin. The Spokane and the Almota both have been built over, and are good as new. Gates is an old craft, no longer fit for active service. Upon the completion of the Riparia branch, about the 1st of August, the through line to Moscow will be via Walla Walla, Riparia and Colfax. The time between Walla Walla and Moscow will be reduced about one-half. As soon as the new time card goes into effect on the Riparia branch, the Almota will begin making three trips a week from Riparia to Lewiston. The Faxon will be put on when her cabin is finished. She is the fastest boat on the river, and easily makes the trip from Riparia to Lewiston in one day. Riparia is lively at present, owing to the large number of men employed there.

Wheat-buyers say the quality of the present crop is exceptionally fine, the grain being wonderfully large and well filled.

Mayor Geo. T. Thompson's failure to arrive at Olympia is explained by the fact that he is at Ilwaco, securing cottages for several families in this city, who will soon depart for that place and remain until the heated term is over.

The entire family of J. T. Johns, of the Pauly Jail Company, were poisoned from eating common cheese. All were very sick for twenty-four hours. The attending physician states that the poisoning was from eating cheese. At this time of the year poisoning is not infrequent, and death results in some cases. The poison is caused by the action of the heat on the ingredients of the cheese, causing a kind of poisoning fermentation. Milk is sometimes affected the same way.

FROM SPOKANE FALLS.

A Free Mail Delivery Expected Inside of Thirty Days.

SPOKANE FALLS, July 28.—A letter was received from the postoffice department by Postmaster Peel, announcing that a free delivery service will be established here as soon as the auditor of the postoffice has officially reported that the gross revenue for the year ended June 30 exceeded $10,000. The delivery will be established in less than thirty days.

Judge Nash has resigned from the bench. He will retire as soon as his resignation is accepted. It is thought his successor will be a New Yorker.

The Pennsylvania millers' excursion passed through this city, going east, to-day. They were unable to stop off.

The Northern Pacific served a temporary injunction last week on the Seattle & Lake Shore, restraining them from building across a piece of land owned by the Northern Pacific, a track to connect the two systems. Saturday, the 28th inst., is set for a hearing in the case, and the Seattle road stopped work on the disputed territory. Early this morning the Northern Pacific began building from their main line, without grading over rocks and obstructions, to the grade work done by the Seattle road, and along that grade to the river. The object is to prevent the Seattle road from coming on the south side of the river.

The body of a man was discovered in a hut built of driftwood on the banks of the river. He had died from disease, and was probably a miner. His name is not known.

SALEM.

Preparing for the State Fair—A Deer Shot in a Wheatfield.

SALEM, Or., July 25.—The executive committee of the state board of agriculture met at the office of Secretary Gregg to-night, President Apperson and members Van B. DeLashmutt and John O. Wilson being present. Preliminary arrangements for the next fair were made. Gatekeepers were appointed and one or two slight revisions were made in the premium list. Among these is an offer of the same premiums for Red-Polled Angus cattle as are offered for other thoroughbred cattle. The committee adjourned at a late hour.

A two-pronged buck deer was killed last night two and one-half miles from Salem by J. H. Ross and Newt. McCauley, in a wheat field in Polk county.

Charles Harpool, who struck "Doc" Shackleford over the head with a pistol at Independence Monday and fled to avoid arrest, has returned.

Supplemental articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state by the Salem Building and Loan Association, increasing its capital stock from $1000 to $2000.

Gov. Pennoyer has appointed the following notaries public: W. F. Creitz, East Portland; George W. Barnes, Pendleton; O. F. Paxton, Portland.

THE CAPTURED SCHOONERS.

Four of Them Towed from Sitka to Port Townsend.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., July 25.—The four British schooners seized last year by the United States revenue cutter Richard Rush, for sealing in Alaskan waters in violation to American laws, and condemned and ordered to this port to be sold at public auction, arrived to-night in tow of the tug S. L. Mastick. The vessels were in charge of J. H. King, deputy United States marshal at Sitka, who stated that they would be sold on August 22. The vessels were appraised as follows: Schooner Ada, $2900; steam schooner Grace, $10,400; steam schooner Dolphin, $7750; and schooner Annie, Beck, for $2600. The Mastick made the round voyage from here in eleven days and received $3500 for the towing. The fleet left Sitka last Thursday morning and enjoyed splendid weather down through the inland channel. At Seymour narrows some apprehension was felt that owing to the swift tide the vessels might jam, but the only incident was the parting of one hawser. The vessels look very much dilapidated from their long term of idleness in Sitka harbor.

The United States gunboat Thetis left Sitka early last month with Gov. A. P. Swineford, for a business tour among the Aleutian islands and western districts of Alaska.

SEATTLE.

Chinese Robber Caught—Mysterious Disappearance of a Bridegroom.

SEATTLE, July 25.—The Chinese cook who was suspected of robbing W. W. Powell was arrested yesterday by farmer Hawley, living near Juanita. Hawley acts as a sort of deputy sheriff and was notified the Chinaman was wanted. When captured Ah Hong, the cook, had three hundred and seventy-eight dollars in his possession. His trial is set for next Saturday.

Peter Carrollson, a Swede 40 years old, mysteriously disappeared yesterday on the eve of his wedding with Miss Bertha Johnson, who came here from Boston to meet him.

The whereabouts of Peray Bayne, deputy sheriff at Gilman, is still a matter of great mystery to his friends.

News was received to-day that P. J. Connor, a native of Ireland, thirty-two years of age, was killed at Port Gamble Tuesday night. He went to Port Gample from Dakota, and at one time he lived in Missouri. While at work in a mill he slipped and fell, the edger table passing over him, resulting in instant death.

LOW WATER.

O. R. & N. and O. P. Steamboats Withdrawn from the Upper Willamette.

ALBANY, Or., July 25.—Owing to low water, the O. R. & N. and Oregon Pacific steamboats have been withdrawn from the upper Willamette for the present. Freight received hereafter via Yaquina will be transferred to the Southern Pacific.

Death of Col. James Stephenson.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Col. James Stephenson, of the United States geological survey, died at the Gilsey house to-day of heart disease.

"RAZORS IN THE AIR."

A Wild Fight at the Conference of Negro Democrats.

PISTOLS DRAWN, BUT NO ONE SHOT.

The Struggle Caused by a Contest for Control of the Conference—Lively Scenes Expected at To-Day's Session.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The negro democratic national conference, called by J. Milton Turner and seventeen other colored men, convened in the rooms of the Hendricks Club, this city, this morning. Sixty-four delegates were present. J. Milton Turner called the conference to order, and proceeded to explain that the call for a conference had been issued because he believed it was time for the negro voters to assert their understanding at least of the primary principles of American sovereignty. The elevation of Cleveland to the presidency, he said, had brought political emancipation, which was felt by no one more than the negroes, and they had the honesty and courage to meet Grover Cleveland's administration half-way.

He introduced Charles H. Shelton of Evansville, Ind., as temporary chairman. Shelton was chosen by the anti-Turner democrats, at a stormy caucus held last night. Shelton, in the course of his speech, mentioned that it was thorugh the aid of democratic soldiers that he had escaped into Ohio while a slave. He believed the conference would eventually be the means of settling the negro problem, and it was the purpose of the delegates to break what the republicans call the Solid South.

Noah Plummer of Massachusetts was made temporary secretary.

A resolution indorsing Cleveland and Thurman was adopted by a unanimous viva voce vote.

ANGRY DISCUSSIONS.

The balance of the morning session was occupied in a noisy and heated wrangle over the formation of a committee on permanent organization.

The afternoon session was far more stormy than the morning, and was given up to discussion of the report of the committee on permanent organization. The majority report recommended Prof. Peter H. Clark of Ohio as permanent chairman and Thomas Fortune of New York as permanent secretary. The minority report named J. Milton Turner for permanent chairman.

C. J. Taylor of Kansas City, ex-minister to Liberia, strongly urged the election of Clark, declaring that new converts to democracy should not be put in charge of the ship. He characterized Prof. Clark as "the noblest negro of them all."

Great confusion again prevailed, and Turner finally obtained the floor, and replying to Taylor called him the "national buffoon," which threw the conference into great excitement.

A WILD SCENE.

Half a dozen others spoke. Late in the evening the previous question was moved, and after many abortive efforts the chairman shut off the debate and ordered the secretary to call the roll by states, on a motion to substitute the minority for the majority report, while the delegates would rise and announce their vote.

The greatest confusion prevailed. Turner declined to vote, and asked that his name be passed.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when Secretary Plummer, an avowed Turner partisan, announced that the vote stood a tie—32 for Clark and 32 for Turner. This announcement was the signal for an uprising that for a few moments bid fair to overwhelm and trample in the dust the half-dozen reporters at the press table, including a colored lady, reporter for the Detroit Plaindealer. There was a wild rush toward Plummer, and cries of "fraud," "thief," and "you're a liar," were heard from all sides of the hall. The friends of Clark gathered around Plummer, denouncing him in vehement and profane terms.

Finally W. T. Scott, the Cairo editor, who was conspicuously endeavoring to protect and defend Plummer, was struck in the face by some one. Scott drew a revolver from his pocket and selected Mail Agent Ogilvie of Columbus, O., as his victim.

Matters were now at a white heat. Local spectators, both white and black, at the sight of pistols made a mad rush for the door, and tumbled pellmell down stairs. In the meantime Ogilve and half a dozen others had drawn their firearms, and bloodshed seemed imminent, when a colored police officer rushed in, and with assistance shoved the combatants into the directors' room in the rear, where they ineffectually tried to shoot one another.

Scott and Ogilvie were placed under arrest, but the officer was prevailed upon to release them. Many delegates had also fled during the fracas.

THE CLARK FACTION TRIUMPH.

Chairman Shelton finally secured order, and announced that he knew Secretary Plummer's figures to be incorrect. The vote was 32 for Clark and 30 for Turner, and he declared Peter H. Clark of Ohio permanent presiding officer of the conference, which then adjourned midst confusion, until to-morrow morning.

It is thought that Turner and his followers will refuse to enter the conference to-morrow and will form an organization of their own.

A largely attended mass meeting was held in the basement of the courthouse to-night. Addresses were made by Peter H. Clark, J. Gordon Street of Boston, ex-Minister Taylor, T. T. Fortune and others.

To-morrow's session is looked forward to with considerable interest.

At a late hour it is ascertained that Mail Agent Ogilvie has left the city to escape arrest. He struck Scott several heavy blows about the head, and a warrant was issued for him to-night.

ANOTHER DYNAMITER IN DURANCE.

A Young Bohemian is Added to the List of Foreign Conspirators.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The drag-net of justice caught to-day another of the anarchists who sought revenge upon the representatives of the law in the persons of Bonfield, Gary and Grinnell. A gunsmith named Rudolph Sevic was arrested before daylight this morning and is now behind prison bars under bonds of $7000. He is charged with being the individual who furnished dynamite to the conspirators who intended to assassinate the three law officers most prominent in the Haymarket prosecution. Sevic acknowledges he has been illegally dealing in dynamite, and has sold over fifty pounds of the explosive to various persons within the year. He will only admit having sold ten pounds to the Chicagoans, and asserts he either never knew or cannot remember who they were. Inspector Bonfield says he has proof that ten pounds, if not more, were sent to the anarchists Hronek, Chapek and Chleboun. It is definitely known that Sevic bought on May 26 from the American Powder Company in Chicago twenty-five pounds of dynamite. It is ten pounds of this purchase that has been traced to the recently arrested trio of assassins. Sevic claims that ten pounds of the twenty-five went to a farmer in Nebraska. On the third day of June he purchased twenty-five pounds more, which he claims to have sold to a farmer in Minnesota, but is unable to give his name or locate him. Inspector Bonfield is positive that Sevic was in league with the three dynamiters arrested a few days ago, and that he sold them the explosive with which they expected to destroy Judges Grinnell and Gary. Sevic is a Bohemian, 28 years old, and of intelligent appearance.

Inspector Bonfield last night also captured several infernal machines. They are of zinc, about five inches in hight, of cylinder shape, and two and one-half inches in diameter. Inside of these cylinders are others of equal hight, about an inch in diameter. These inside cylinders are filled with dynamite, and between them and the outside covering the space is filled with broken glass, lead, slugs and broken iron. In the tops of the inside cylinders fulminating caps are placed, with fuses attached.

Inspector Bonfield will not say whether or not the machines were in Sevic's house. Sevic's arrest was kept secret until this morning, when he was arraigned in court. In the meantime he had been subjected to vigorous pumping by Inspector Bonfield. The proceedings in court occupied but a few minutes and consisted of simply putting the case on record and fixing the bond, heavy enough to hold the gunsmith, and continuing further proceeding for a week. The grand jury is already impaneled to take up the case of Sevic. His alleged co-conspirators will, long before that time, it is expected, have been indicted.

The police say the discovery of bombs which is doubtless Sevic's handwork is an important link in the chain of evidence against Hronek, Chapek and Chleboun. The bombs were the invention of Hronek, and their manufacture by a practical gunsmith goes far to show a deep laid conspiracy. It is thought by the police that many more bombs are in existence, as there is no other possible theory to explain the use of the large quantities of dynamite handled by the Bohemian gunsmith. Bonfield says the bombs are of such a devilish pattern that one would be sufficient to kill forty men.

This afternoon Sevic was carried, with Hronek, Chapek and Chleboun, before the grand jury, who immediately took up the case. The proceedings were guarded with the utmost secrecy. The first half hour was occupied by Inspector Bonfield in unfolding to the jury the details of the conspiracy.

Indictments for conspiracy to commit murder were found by the grand jury to-day against the four anarchist conspirators. In the morning Capt. Bonfield was on hand with the informer Frank Chebowa. Other witnesses were present, but Chebowa was the most important witness for the state. His story was a complete confession of the plot, and he also told of the visits to Gunnell's and Gray's houses on July 3 and 4. The state has his confession in full, and it is expected that the evidence against the other conspirators is so complete as to warrant conviction.

THE STRIKE GOES ON.

A Scheme for the Federation of Four Brotherhoods.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 25.—[illegible] the conclusion of to-day's session of the engineers and firemen's brotherhood, it was announced that a resolution had been unanimously adopted refusing the Burlington road's conditions, and declaring that the road must take back all the strikers or none. This means that the situation to-day is just as it was before the efforts at a compromise were made. It is stated that the plan of federation of the engineers, firemen, switchmen and brakeman brotherhoods were indorsed by the meeting, and arrangements are making to carry it into effect. Each of the four brotherhoods will hold conventions between now and October to consider the matter. The first one to meet will adopt a federation clause in its constitution, which will be accepted by the other conventions, and when this work is accomplished a general advisory board will be established, to be made up of delegates from the delegations.

It will be the business of the board to handle all difficulties that cannot be adjusted by the various grievance committees.

THE FREIGHT WAR.

The Cut in Rates Extends West of the Missouri.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Yesterday was probably the most disastrous day of the season in the war on freight rates. The action of the C. & A. in making its rate of $1 20 and 72 cents per 100 pounds on dry goods and cotton piece goods respectively from New York to Missouri river points via all rail has created a great deal of comment. What is perhaps even a more decided evidence of the prolongation in the rate war is the fact that yesterday the tariff rates to Salt Lake and all other common Utah points declined by all roads. These rates formerly stood from Missouri river points, on first class, $2 35; second, $2; third, $1 75; fourth, $1 50; fifth, $1 30; sixth, $1 25; A, $1; B, 90 cents; C, 80 cents; D, 70 cents. These rates were suddenly and without warning reduced as follows: First class, $2 05; second, $1 70; third, $1 55; fourth, $1 30; fifth, $1 15; sixth, $1 05; A, 92 cents; B, 82 cents; C, 72 cents; D, 62 cents.

This is the first time during the present freight-rate war that rates have been affected further west than the Missouri river, except to Colorado points, but it is evident that the reduction in Utah rates is made in direct connection with rate cutting of lines to Missouri river points from this city and Chicago.

This is regarded as the forerunner of a reduction in transcontinental rates to California and Oregon points. There has been no apparent effort thus far on the part of any line to restore rates, except to Colorado points. The withdrawal of the New York, Ontario & Western road from the trunk line passenger association yesterday, makes the situation more complicated than ever.

A MURDEROUS SUITOR.

He Shoots a Young Woman and Then Kills Himself.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 25.—Ben Dutton, a farm hand, went to the house of John Lamont, three miles east of Bryden, last night and attempted to kill Lamont and Miss Root, a young woman employed in Lamont's family. Dutton fired one bullet at Lamont, which took effect in his face, and four at the girl, all of which took effect. Her most serious injury is a wound in the back of the head, and her recovery is doubtful.

After the shooting Dutton escaped to the woods pursued by a deputy sheriff, who hunted for him all night, and this morning his dead body was found with a bullet hole through his heart. A paper was also found at the dead man's side marked "Strychnine." Dutton had been paying attention to the girl, but Lamont considered him unworthy of her and at his advice she rejected his suit. Dutton swore to get even with Lamont for interfering, and it was in fulfillment of this oath that the crime was committed.

THE MISSION OF GREENWAY.

President Harris Says the Northern Pacific Will Not Cross the Line.

NEW YORK, July 25.—President Robert Harris of the Northern Pacific railroad says, with referrence to the visit of Premier Greenway of Manitoba, in company with subordinate officers, to the headquarters of the Northern Pacific: "It has nothing to do with the affairs of the Northern Pacific. I shall be glad to make suitable traffic agreements with any line that will bring us business, but we do not intend to cross the Canadian border. Our habitation is the United States, and we do not intend to leave at present. I shall not guarantee any obligations on the other side of the line. If the Canadians say they have all the money they want, I presume they are satisfied, but I suspect that it is a lack of money that brings them here."

MORE CALLERS FROM ILLINOIS.

After Entertaining Them Gen. Harrison Witnesses a Game of Ball.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Another Illinois delegation of about 1500 came to visit Gen. Harrison to-day. They hailed from Paris and the neighboring towns of Edgar and Cole counties. Their visit flavored largely of the famous campaign of '40, as old Tippecanoe and young Tippecanoe were the watchwords of the day. The gathering included many veterans of the Mexican and civil wars. In the Edgar county delegation were over 200 men over 70 years of age, who had participated in the Tippecanoe campaign. Several felicitous speeches were made. Later in the afternoon Gen. Harrison, with a party of friends, went over to the Ball park and watched the game with evident interest.

MINNESOTA PROHIBITIONISTS.

They Denounce Both Old Parties, Particularly the Republicans.

ST. PAUL, July 25.—The first business before the prohibition convention this morning was the platform, which was adopted substantially as read. The democratic and republican parties are held jointly responsible for liquor crime. It declares that the announced intention of the republican party to remove from tobacco and intoxicating beverages the internal revenue taxes, without abolishing saloons, and for the purpose of maintaining a high protective tariff upon articles of necessity, will result in cheap whisky and tobacco and high-priced clothing, and is opposed to the best interests of the people. Hugh Harrison of Hennepin county was nominated for governor by acclamation.

COLGATE HOYT RESIGNS.

Because the Joint Lease of the O. R. & N. Was Defeated.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Colgate Hoyt of this city has resigned as director of the Union Pacific railroad.

The withdrawal of the Union Pacific from the joint lease, with the Northern Pacific, of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company is generally accepted as the cause of his resignation.

The Paper Manufacturers.

SARATOGA, July 25.—The American Paper Manufacturers' Association held its eleventh annual session at the Grand Union hotel, President Byron Weston in the chair. Hon. Warner Miller spoke on the tariff question. E. G. Rogers of Holyoke, Mass., was elected president.

THE RUSH TO AMERICA.

The Congressional Committee of Inquiry at Work.

IMMIGRATION FACTS AND FIGURES

Agents of Steamship Lines Placed on the Witness Stand—How Italians Are Lured Here by Bright Promises.

NEW YORK, July 25.—To-day the congressional committee appointed to look into immigration affairs of the country at large began its work. The first session of the committee opened at West Chester hotel this morning. Chairman Ford, of Michigan, Congressman Morrow, of California, and Guenther, of Wisconsin, were the only members of the committee present, but Gen. Spinola and Congressman Oates are expected to arrive to-morrow. The New York commissioners of immigration were none of them present at the opening of the inquiry, nor was any one else here to represent Castle Garden.

The first witness to take the chair was E. L. Boas, passenger agent of the Hamburg line of steamers. He was questioned about the manner in which his company transacted its passenger business. He described the company's system of agencies in this country and Europe. Witness said every person buying a ticket has to present a passport showing that he is allowed to emigrate, and has not committed any crime. The company, he said, takes great pains to inspect all passengers, in order that none shall come over who would not be allowed to land here.

The witness was questioned closely by each of the committeemen on this passport question, and acknowledged that the principal point dwelt upon in the document, was whether or not the would-be emigrant was liable for military service.

Mr. Coverly was the second witness examined. The committee devoted especial attention to the Mediterranean business done by his company.

Arthur Lederer, of the Red Star line, thought his line had brought 125,000 immigrants into the country in the past five years. Ten per cent. of the tickets sold in New York are prepaid.

LURED HERE BY BRIGHT PROMISES.

A representative of an Italian society, during recess, stated that immigrants flock to the society rooms, begging for relief, and making complaints. When asked why they came here, they said they were persuaded by flaming placards which adorn the walls of their native villages, setting forth in glowing terms the advantages of coming to America, and promising them profitable employment as soon as they land. These placards, they say, are scattered broadcast over Italy by agents of New York Italian bankers, who reap a rich harvest from their profits on steamship tickets.

Louis Debentes, agent of the Havre line of steamships, stated that a majority of the steerage passengers who come to this port by his line are Swedes. His company only has dealings with ten or twelve local agents, and no tickets are issued to them in blank. Arrivals in the past few years have been about 100,000. Very few of their passengers remain in New York.

A. M. Underhill said the Guion line has brought in the past five years about 100,000 immigrants, mostly English, Irish, Scotch, Hungarian and Germans, but no Italians. Fully 90 per cent. of the passengers coming over on the Guion line go to points beyond New York, a majority of them going to the Northwest.

Theodore Schroder, immigrant agent of the North German Lloyd line, gave arrivals by his line for the past five years at 231,000. A majority of them were Hungarians. They were mostly prepaid tickets, and were sold by local agents, mostly in the Pennsylvania coal regions. Two-thirds of the immigrants by this line went west of New York.

J. Turkuile, agent of the Fabre line, said a majority of the immigrants went west of New York. He acknowledged that at one time he had sold 100 tickets to one party, but he now restricted the number to ten. This was done to prevent speculation. He claimed that Italian bankers realized very little from their commission on passage tickets.

OPINION IN ITALY.

ROME, July 25.—The Reforma has an article to-day on the agitation carried on in the United States against Italian immigration. The Reforma says the movement in question is based solely upon miserable hatred of the Italian element, and that public opinion in Italy will not allow the question to drop.

THE WHITE CAPS.

Brutal Work of this Cowardly Band—Two Prominent Citizens Implicated.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—Advices late to-night from New Albany say that a party of white caps, after brutally whipping two women, yesterday morning went to the house of a respectable farmer ordered him to spread the news of their latest exploit or penalty of receiving a whipping himself. The farmer refused, and with friends in the house offered battle. Shots were exchanged and the white caps rode away. It is believed three of them were seriously wounded. Efforts will be made to find them. Two of them are now known to be men who always have been regarded as respected citizens of Crawford county. The revelation has created great surprise.

Baseball.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Van Haltren and Farrell did very poor work as a battery to-day, and the home team had an easy victory. Score, Indianapolis 6, Chicago 4. Batteries, Boyle and Myers for Indianapolis, Van Haltren and Farrell for Chicago.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The Quakers were unable to hit effectively to-day, and Washington won the game. Score, Washington 3, Philadelphia 1. Batteries, Gleason and Shriver for Philadelphia, Widner and Mack for Washington.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Lucky hitting enabled the Giants to defeat the Bean-Eaters to-day, and moved New York into second place, Chicago's defeat having dropped them down. Score, New York 5, Boston 1. Batteries, Keefe and Ewing for New York, Sowden and Kelly for Boston.

The St. Joseph Conference.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 25.—Consideration of the proposition looking toward an adjustment of the dificuly with the Burlington road occurred at this morning's session of the great convention of railroad employes now meeting here. Great pressure, it is understood, was brought to bear on the hot-heads by the more conservative element to waive the 3½ and 4 cents a mile schedule and the classification clause. Chief Sargent left last night for Chicago, where he claims to have been called by urgent business. It is certain that neither Monoghan, Sargent, Wilkinson nor Arthur, heads of the four great organizations, will take part in the convention. Hage and Murphy were expected here this morning, but did not make their appearance.

A Disastrous Collapse.

NEW YORK, July 25.—At the old armory, Elm and White streets, occupied by several printing and book-binding firms, a gallery along one side of the ground floor collapsed to-day, under the weight of a lot of heavy iron pipe and five heavy folding machines. Six women went down in the wreck, and one was killed and one badly bruised, but the others escaped with a bad fright. There was a great panic when the crash occurred, and over 200 women and girls at work in the upper floors rushed to the street, screaming. No others were injured, fortunately, but those mentioned above.

Production of Steel and Iron.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The American Steel and Iron Association's statement shows that the total production of pig iron in the United States the first six months in 1888 amounted to 3,382,503 net tons of 2000 pounds, or 3,020,802 gross tons of 2240 pounds. Production in the last six months of 1887 was 3,771,996 net tons, or 3,367,853 gross tons. The increased production in the first half of '88 was wholly in Bessemer pig iron. The production of Bessemer steel rails in the first half of 1888 was 775,261 net tons, or 692,197 gross tons, against 1,146,117 net tons, or 1,023,320 gross tons in the last half of 1887.

A Union Pacific Deal.

NEW YORK, July 26.—From the Tribune to-day: There was more cutting in west-bound freight rates yesterday. A rumor was circulated that the Union Pacific company had entered into a pro-rating arrangement with the Cromwell Steamship line for shipments via New Orleans to points on their road in Utah at rates which were 15 cents lower than other lines. Officers of the Cromwell line admitted that they had got into the Utah territory of the Union Pacific, but denied a 25 cent cut under other lines.

Business Educators.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 25.—The Business Educators' National Association to-day elected the following officers: President, George W. Brown, Jacksonville, Ill.; first vice president, George W. Elliott, Burlington, Iowa; second vice president, L. A. Gray, Portland, Maine; third vice president, Miss Patchett, San Francisco; secretary and treasurer, Wm. E. McCord, New York.

The Great Raft Launched.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The monster log raft, or rather log ship, that has been completed for James D. Leary, has been successfully launched into the bay of Fundy, at Joggins, N. S. The ocean tug Morse towed it out into the bay. The Morse will start at once for this port with its unwieldy tow, and barring accidents is expected here in six days.

More Trouble in Pike County.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 25.—Advices from Charleston say the trouble is again on in Pike county, Kentucky. A party of men from Eureka, were going through a few days ago, and met a gang of Pike county men. The latter, supposing the former men were coming to arrest them, opened fire. One man was killed and several were wounded.

Ives and Staynor Sued.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—This afternoon Albert Netter, who yesterday went upon the bond of Ives and Staynor, brought suit against them for $8000, which he claims is due him on a sale to them of $250,000 of Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton stock. A hotel-keeper also sued Ives for a $500 board bill, incurred in 1887.

The Burlington Dynamite Cases.

AURORA, Ills., July 25.—The courtroom to-day was crowded to witness the opening proceedings in the Burlington dynamite conspiracy cases. The case of Bauereisen and Smith was taken up on warrants sworn out on July 11, charging them with placing dynamite on the C. B. & Q. tracks on June 14.

The Kentucky Whisky Fight.

LOUISVILLE, July 25.—United States Marshal Gross received a letter to-day from a deputy at Harlan, saying he is in the courthouse with 100 armed men, with Winchesters, and will try to hold it, though the whiskyites are arming and threaten to have blood for the destruction of their property.

IN WEST VIRGINIA.

More Democrats Coming Out for Harrison and Morton.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 18.—Morris Horkheimer, senior member of the firm of Horkheimer Bros., of this city, the largest wool-dealers in the state, in an interview this evening announced his attention to vote for Harrison and Morton. Mr. Horkheimer has for twenty-five years past voted the democratic ticket. In that time, he says, he has never had any love for the republican party, and he really has none now, but that he is forced into this position by the unmistakable free trade stand taken by the democratic party, as expressed in its St. Louis platform, the Mills bill and Cleveland's message. He proposes to vote for the republican nominees because they stand for protection, not only to the wool interests, but to all the interests of the country. From the manner in which the wool industry has already been made to suffer he sees in the carrying out of the democratic platform the ruin of all industries. He will not only vote for Harrison and Morton, but for the republican congressional and legislative tickets. He has no patience with democrats who want protection and thank God for a republican senate to fall back on and then vote for democratic legislators who will vote for United States senator.

Bernard Horkheimer, the other member of the firm, will also vote the republican ticket. They say there are many democratic farmers in the country from whom they buy wool who have changed with them.

Similar changes have become so frequent here as to cause genuine dismay in the democratic household, but none has created so much surprise as that of Mr. David R. Brooks, a prominent manufacturer and contractor, who was considered a reliable partisan of Cleveland. He personally fired 100 guns when Cleveland was nominated, but has been reflecting since that, and this evening authorized the announcement that he will vote for Harrison and Morton on the protection issue.

A wool-grower in West Virginia writes: "I will never vote another democratic ticket, not even for town constable. I almost hurrahed my lungs out for Cleveland and he has betrayed me. We don't ask for help down here. The wool men of this state will carry it themselves for Harrison and Morton."

MAKING REPUBLICAN VOTERS.

Ohio Woolgrowers, Seeing Prices Declining, Decide to Support Harrison.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 20.—The effect of a democratic congress placing wool on the free list last Monday is already discernible in this vicinity. When it is known that the five counties composing the Seventeenth Ohio congressional district produce annually about 3,000,000 pounds of wool, or one-sixth the product of the whole state, and which added to Brooke county, W. Va., and Washington county, Pa., just across the river, form the greatest woolgrowing district in the United States, of which this city is the center, it will be readily understood how any tinkering with the wool tariff would affect this whole vicinity. About a month ago James F. Johnson, one of the heaviest woolbuyers in the district, made a tour through the counties for the purpose of buying wool at 25 cents. He found few farmers willing to listen to such a figure, and they only those who were pushed for ready money. Since last Monday he has been approached by these same farmers, who are now not only willing but anxious to sell at the figures named, fearing that the price would fall much below. But Mr. Johnson has as yet declined to accept their offers. The same has been the experience over in Washington county, where the growers were unwilling to surrender their clip at 25 cents, when they had been offered 30 and 35 cents last year, but had held over. Dowing Hart, one of the largest growers in the county, who declined 30 cents just before the introduction of the Mills bill, yesterday sold at 25, and also absolved his allegiance to the democratic party. His example will be followed by many others, as all wool-growers are unanimous in denouncing President Cleveland's message, the Mills bill, the St. Louis platform, and Monday's action of a democratic congress.

COMING BACK INTO THE FOLD.

Prohibitionists and Greenbackers in Illinois to Vote the Republican Ticket.

PRINCETON, Ill., July 20.—A prominent feature of the opening of the campaign here has been the announcement of about twenty-five of the prohibitionists as coming back to the republican party in Bureau county this year. Reports from various neighboring towns indicate a tide of migration from the prohibition to the republican party. In Malden, six miles east of here, quite a large number have already signified their intention of supporting Harrison. The Rev. M. L. Averill is among the number. The letters of Mr. Dunn of Freeport and J. H. Lozier of Iowa have exerted much influence in this vicinity, as they show plainly that the campaign of the third party is manipulated and financially supported by those who favor returning the old slave power to the control of the government by means of intimidation and ballot-box stuffing. Among the greenbackers who have returned to the party is Dr. Hopkins, who figured quite prominently four years ago. The republicans will also get at least 200 votes from the democratic party in this county on the protection issue. In Buda in the foundry and machine shops, which employ about 200 men, nearly every one has expressed himself as opposed to the low wages of Europe and in favor of Harrison and protection. It is the same substantially in Spring Valley, where about 1400 men are employed by the coal company. They are all for protection. This county will give the largest republican majority it has recorded for many years.

NOTES

Mr. L. A. Patterson has gone to the seashore on a visit to his family, who went several days ago.

On the corner of N and Eighth where the Baker family were burned out some time ago, a business house has been put up in place of the charred debris

Rails have been laid down and spiked for the Vancouver railway for a distance of two blocks on J street. The work is rather slow as it takes time to saw the planking and put in the two extra stringers

The people in Holladay's addition, and in another addition at the north end, are getting impatient waiting for the completion of the upper portion of the railroad bridge so it can be used for local traffic

NEW FURNITURE FACTORY.

Mr. Powers Erecting a Complete Establishment South of the City

Mr. Ira F Powers, who lately sold his property on Water street to the Portland & Willamette Valley Railway Company has purchased two and one half acres a short distance south of the city, between the narrow gauge and the river, and has commenced building a sawmill and furniture factory thereon The factory will be 60x150, and there will be five buildings adjoining, 40x80 feet for "set up" shops, varnish shops, etc

The location is a favorable one as he will have opportunity to ship goods either by boat or rail. He will build a sawmill of a capacity of 15,000 feet a day, to be used in sawing oak, ash maple, alder and cottonwood lumber for use in his factory He expects by sawing the lumber to dimensions to save about one-third in its cost.

Mr. Powers says cottonwood lumber, if properly treated, is excellent for meat safes and bedsteads It must be carefully piled and weighted down as soon as sawed to keep it from warping as, if left alone the boards will twist and curl and crawl all over the country, but when once thoroughly seasoned in a pile they are all right There is still considerable oak and other hard wood lumber up the valley and there is any quantity of cottonwood along the Columbia. Mr Powers proposes to utilize it and says he is going to build a factory so convenient and complete that he can compete with Eastern manufacturers, which is the proper thing to do, and which, no doubt, Mr Powers will accomplish.

A STRAY BULLET

Unpleasant Visitor in the Press Room of the "West Shore" Office

A little after noon yesterday the occupants of the press room at the West Shore office were startled by a bullet crashing through a rear window and striking one of the front windows, where it flattened against the glass, cracking it and falling to the floor The pressman, Joe Powers, happened to be stooping over to reach for a benzine bottle as the bullet whizzed past him and then close by the head of a young lady compositor working by the window

Investigation showed that some persons were shooting at a target at the rear of a [illegible] in the block, and one of the bullets had struck a box and glanced off finding its way into the press room Mr L Samuels has been in the habit of visiting his press room frequently, but says in future he shall keep out of it. The man who fired the shot will never do so again. Some time since persons shooting a fugitive chicken in the yard at the rear of a First street restaurant broke the glass over the door of the Pantheon saloon and frightened several persons out of a year's growth. It seems strange that any one would dare to shoot at a mark in the business portion of the city but the guns used are of such light calibre that the people using them look upon them as mere toys [illegible] pistols and toy guns have, however, caused many fatal accidents

FITTED FOR A PRINCIPALSHIP

There has been some little fuss and bother about securing a suitable principal for the [illegible] school. The great desideratum as generally understood is a person who can teach [illegible]. Now there is a gentleman who man[illegible] [illegible] and lemon drop stand on the corner [illegible] & Tilton's bank, who keeps a copy of Xenophon's Anabasis on his stand to read when trade is dull He reads Greek naturally, as the ox drinketh water, having been born on the isles of Greece where burning Sappho loved and sang, or thereabouts

There is no doubt as to the man's knowledge of Greek, for the writer tested it yesterday by reading a few pages of the Anabasis to him, which he readily translated into English The only thing he was wrong about was the pronunciation of "Xenophon" which he persisted in calling xenophone with the accent on the phone This, however, may have been caused by an impediment in his speech and should not prevent him from getting the situation The cheapest and most expeditious plan for learning to speak Greek is after all to be born in Greece Any grouse can learn the language this way

DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR

The Result of Taking Another Man's Wife on an Excursion

A little after 1 30 this morning the reporters' room of The Oregonian office was enlivened by piercing screams from a female on the sidewalk in front of Snell Heitshu & Woodard's store Before a reporter could reach the place a large crowd had gathered around the screamer a slim young woman in a pale green dress and a beefeater hat She was the wife of Thomas Loftus who left him some time since as, she says because he did not support her and who had been on an excursion with a young man named Cox who drives for the U C & B F Co Loftus was waiting for their return and said he was going to take his wife home but when he told her to come home she said she would not, and that settled it Loftus then struck her in the face and knocked her down and when a crowd gathered he lit out On being picked up it was seen that Mrs Loftus had a cut on her cheek She said she had been stabbed but the wound may have been made by a ring and her tooth She went off to the police station to make a complaint against Loftus There it was ascertained that her former name was Morris, and that she is at present an inmate of a house of ill repute Cox cannot be of much account to take a woman from such a place on an excursion Some said Loftus was not of much account either and others said he was a decent fellow He certainly did not do the proper thing in knocking his wife down The affair caused considerable excitement for a time but when the case was understood it excited general disgust

THE GARDINER DIVORCE CASE

PORTLAND July 25, 1888

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Will you please allow one not so archly mirthful as the reporter in the Gardiner versus Gardiner case to make a slight correction in the flavor of the excellent pabulum lacking only the savor of truth offered by him through the columns of your paper to a fun loving public—as such he evidently supposes it to be?

In general the report is along the line of the celebrated definition submitted by the French Academy of Natural Sciences after days of deliberation over it to the eminent naturalist Cuvier They had settled upon a definition for coral that it was a small red fish that crawled backward When appealed to Cuvier said "Excellent gentlemen, excellent, I have only one correction to make A crab is not red, is not a fish, and does not crawl backward"

As to particulars "The peculiar religious sect in the Walla Walla country, with which Mr Gardiner claims affiliation—not 'belongs to'—is the Methodist Episcopal church of Walla Walla into which he was baptized, and other facts related by this merry scribe as transpiring in court were not claimed by either party or, in other words did not occur

There was no such question as that Mrs Gardiner ever invited much less "insisted" on her husband's coming to her hotel after business hours however distant it might be from his tents, or at all

It was not claimed by either that Mrs Gardiner ever invited Mr Gardiner to pray with her at a hotel or elsewhere (whatever the facts are), except on one occasion when the tents were not 100 feet from his hotel in Ilwaco and then such services had been concluded by the men in the tents, and at that time she gave it as her reason for not causing workmen to repeat their prayers that night with her because she would no longer pray, having done so the second time with a man present who had insulted her as was proven in court by the craven who did insult her and who a few weeks later than this particular evening was discharged by Mr Gardiner for embezzling money from him and at the time she refused to pray was busily engaged in stealing it.

It did not appear that there had been "prayers in the family" for the past year whatever piety may be claimed by the campers

It was claimed and not objected to that Mr Gardiner's employes are often culled from the flower garden of tramps, having little in common with the honest dinner pail brigade but are often such as one whose watch was cleaned by the holy rite of baptism in Walla Walla in order that such excessive fervor might cover a brief period of peculation before his next rapid change of base

Also Mr Gardiner as is usual in such cases had the pleasure to provide defense for his wife not leaving that onerous burden to her as is supposable from the report Mrs Gardiner introduced no witness in this so called trial

Furthermore it would seem that Momus and Esculapius have equal parts in this scrivener else how should he carry off so pertly the nature of Mrs Gardiner's malady which for weeks in this and last year has been regularly treated by one of the ablest physicians in this city

When a wife is to be set aside for cruel and inhuman treatment for refusing to longer pray with her insulter after having done so the second time and it was not claimed that she did so refuse for any other cause, nor at any time when he was not present and for desiring her husband's prayers in family worship why this unseemly laughter and intended truckling in report which may be very low comedy to its readers and still solemn tragedy to the Most High whose observant eye will not fail to note even this funny case and who has, through his son given one only ground for breaking the marriage contract which is the one recognized by that church to which Mr Gardiner claims to belong together with the inauspicious lot of his last year's Walla Walla employes a favorite one of whom has now a falsified account of his business relationship with Mr and Mrs Gardiner lying in an office in this city?

If the case of this wife broken in health by years of service in her Master's cause at home and abroad and her guerdon for saving her husband's soul in answer to her prayers as he claimed a year ago to her to the Rev T J Alderman and others in this city, to reverends of different denominations and others in Walla Walla is to have all hope of future work in her calling taken from her by the inflexible rule of her church the Methodist Episcopal in case of a bill for divorce obtained by either party against the other as was well known to her husband before their marriage the outcome of the unique piety of his innocents abroad all is to subside flat and stale is this dying shriek of laughter in a false key to be echoed on and on to swell the chorus of shouts heard by grand old Milton that tore hell's concave then these are irrefragable proof of how religion fared with her rapt votaries in his camp during the pendency of this suit

Tillamook Needs a New Road as Well as Steamer Service.

The People Pleased With the Advent of the Portland Steamship—New Coal Discovery—Fine Springs

The Portland & Coast Steamship Company's steamer Alliance arrived Tuesday evening from Tillamook bay after a pleasant voyage She brought freight and several passengers Mr E West of Netarts was among the passengers He says that the Alliance arrived in the bay from Portland Sunday evening and surprised the people who were not fully aware of her coming He is confident that the Tillamook people fully appreciate the advantage of increased transportation given them by the Alliance and will support the steamer Relative to the matter the Tillamook Headlight says

"This county will have an immense shipment of fruit this season and if regular and bona fide transportation can be had the general product shipment of this county alone will warrant the regular sailing of more than one vessel the size of the Alliance The farmer and producer want that fact fully established before they put their foot in it and are subjected to losses accruing through lack of shipping facilities As soon as this or any other company fully obtain the confidence of the people then the products of our soil will be brought forth and sent to the market of the world but unless we are fully assured of this fact it would be all foolishness to waste time and money in preparing for shipment apples plums pears, prunes potatoes hay—in fact everything and then allow them to lay in a warehouse and rot for want of forthwith transportation Tillamook county can send to the open market thousands of dollars worth of fruit and vegetables every year providing she is encouraged by a proper recognition in freight facilities"

Mr West stated further that the Tillamook people have held a meeting at which they discussed the feasibility of opening a road from Tillamook to Forest Grove a distance of thirty two miles along the base line They desire the Forest Grove people to take steps in the matter A mineral spring has been found on Mr West's farm and a sulphur spring on the farm of his neighbor and namesake John West whose place is seven miles away W S Cone a Tillamook timber expert while making a tour of the country came upon an Indian digging a well through a coal vein He obtained a piece of the croppings which Mr West brought to Portland It looks like good gas coal The mine is located in the direction of Tillamook about twenty five miles from Portland

A SOUTHERN MAN'S LETTER

PORTLAND July 25

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your issue of the 24th inst you give as the key to the Southern political solidity loyalty to the memory of the lost cause A native of the South and on that account and because I have spent my life there perhaps I may be blinded to the real causes of things political in that unhappy section but that is hardly probable The fact that you have three editorials touching the Southern question in the issue of the 24th emboldens me to tender the following explanation of Southern political solidity It is due to the negro question On the Pacific slope the Chinese question is the burning issue so in the South it is the negro question with this difference you object to the Chinese as your servants we object to the negroes as our masters

That no devotion to the lost cause produces the political solidity complained of a most casual consideration will demonstrate Kentucky sent as many men to the Northern armies as she did to the Southern and yet she is solidly democratic West Virginia was taken from old Virginia by a sort of political Caesarean operation because of her disaffection towards the Southern cause yet she has since reconstruction been constantly democratic North Carolina and Tennessee were in great sections hostile to the Confederacy yet they are surely democratic At the close of the war vast numbers of Southern Union men joined the republican party but after an experience of negro suffrage they all abandoned it

The real truth is that the people of the Pacific coast are more animated by tradition and reminiscence than are the Southern people The people of the North have no conception of what a race question is not so is the case upon this coast Just as Thomas Jefferson a hundred and eleven years ago foresaw the deplorable results of the negro question viewed from the economic standpoint so you see the evils of the Chinese question As he by bill in the legislature of Virginia advocated the liberation and exportation of negroes so you advocated the restriction act looking to speedy and final exclusion of the Mongolian hordes If the people of the Pacific coast are wise they will profit by the fearful fate of the South and get rid of an alien unassimilable element of population at once peaceably if possible otherwise if necessary

Upon the Pacific slope no one seriously believes the dogma of the Declaration of Independence as to the equality of all men The author of that document did not intend it as it is understood in the Northeast for Jefferson was himself a slaveholder—I am now taking it for granted that Jefferson wrote that paper Macauley commented upon this inconsistency long ago The debates of 1789 upon the basis of representation—the identical question lately raised with such ingenuity by the brilliant senator from Kansas—disclose the views of the country upon the matter at that time No one then ever dreamed of political equality for negroes But by a compromise necessary to the adoption of the constitution the South was given representation for three fifths of the slaves somewhat after the manner of the fractional votes of the gentes at Rome The real meaning of the Declaration of Independence is to be found in Blackstone's Commentaries under the subject of the nature of laws in general on the fifty second page of Chitty's edition if I remember right the language is somewhat as follows "We have seen that all men are by nature equal, to whom then shall the reins of government be entrusted?" The South is simply solid upon the doctrine there laid down by Blackstone All men should have certain inalienable rights before the law but the right to govern others is not inherent in those who have no capacity to govern themselves This pernicious doctrine so clearly elaborated in the reconstruction amendments to the constitution was first amended I believe by Pope Gregory in order to carry his point against the Emperor Frederick, some dozen years before Urban proclaimed the crusades

A discussion of this question is now nearly a statement of reminiscences for the refusal of the courts to naturalize Chinese is a direct negative of the equality dogma In all of the struggles of this coast in congress to exclude the Chinese I believe the Southern whites have upheld your hands with the exception of Joe Brown of Georgia whose interests lie in the direction of iron and coal mines and convict labor Why should not this coast thoroughly understanding the race question be equally generous to the South? You will not have Chinese suffrage and the South says you are right Why then reciprocate by forcing negro suffrage upon the South? You may say that negro suffrage is a fixed fact authorized by the constitution So was negro slavery Negro suffrage can be as easily gotten rid of as Chinese naturalization and in the same way The courts could hold the amendments to have been adopted by duress That would end the whole thing break up the solid South and leave the basis of representation open to determination Lincoln in his great debate with Douglas on the 18th of September 1858, said "I am not nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes nor of qualifying them to hold office nor to intermarry with white people, and I will say in addition to this that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality And inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together, there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race." Why was not the North satisfied with stopping the Africanization of the West and saving the Union? What a glorious record did the republican party have until it undertook the impossible task of governing the South with negro votes! And how warped by a perverted loyalty to a victorious cause was the great North when it subjected a part of its own race to the insulting domination of the Southern slaves! The humiliation of the South may be conceived by Oregonians who will imagine themselves disfranchised and their lives and property put under the control of their Chinese servants We are told this was done because we rebelled that we should be grateful that our lives were spared If we forfeited our lives and our lands it would have been less cruel to have taken them than to have put us and our children after us under negro domination The policy adopted is carrying the doctrine of original sin a little too far

Universal suffrage cannot last long Caesar gave it to Italy and Caesar took it away In the Grecian republics they made no pretence of it In France it has come and gone and next year they will have it even in Rhode Island We need not despair of the country however To Buckle that apostle of liberty tells us there are different forms of free government It would be best if we had a homogeneous people but the next best thing is a homogeneous governing race Creasy and Draper both attribute the decline of Rome to the absorption of the African and Asiatic slaves into the body of citizenship That is a long ways off here perhaps In the meantime we may conclude with Froude in his study of the English in the West Indies that Slavery could not last But neither can the condition which followed it The equality between black and white is a forced equality and to [illegible] nature in the long run has her way and readjusts [illegible] in their proper relation which theorists and philanthropists have disturbed

I do not pretend to be one of those wise men that I am told are to be met with in foreign travel but simply a Southern man projecting for a home in a country free from the political rule of Senegambian barbarism and seeing so much in the press of the city upon Southern political solidity have presumed there would be no objection to hearing the testimony of one of Dixie's natives

A DEFERRED REPLY

PORTLAND July 25

John F Miller Klamath county Oregon—Sir In THE DAILY OREGONIAN of January 8 1887 you caused the publication of the following letter

JOHN F MILLER'S LAND

SALEM Jan 7 1887

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I noticed several days ago that your Washington correspondent had dug up a report of one McCormick to the land department to the effect that I had fenced upwards of 10,000 acres of government land and had also taken agricultural land as desert land The report is false from beginning to end I never had one acre of government land fenced All the land I have fenced I and others own and have paid for The land I bought of the government as desert is desert land as I am prepared to prove by abundant testimony if my title to the same shall ever be questioned by any one This fellow McCormick was hanging around Linkville a month or so last summer and word came from him to me several times that he wanted to see me but as I was engaged in buying land at that time I did not see him The next time I heard from him was about two months ago when the commissioner of the general land office notified me of the nature of his report I at once furnished the department satisfactory proof as I suppose of its falsity and McCormick as a hold over republican rascal was kicked out of the public service as I am informed

JOHN F MILLER

I have deferred this answer to it for reasons that appear below

You are reputed to be at intervals possessed of a fine sense of honor and it is no wonder that in one of them when you had learned of my report to the honorable commissioner of the general landoffice wherein I characterized your connection with the land in question as "willfully fraudulent," you should try with printer's ink to obscure the show of your alleged guilt The devil can and does quote scripture for his purpose

A little reflection might have convinced you of the wisdom of silence until final action by the G L O in your case In your own opinion you have considerable political influence and no doubt imagined that your name attached to "satisfactory proof" of the falsity of my report would outweigh all other consideration before the commissioner of the general landoffice But that official probably with fear and trembling of incurring your resentment [illegible] ordered a hearing or trial before the register and receiver of Lakeview landoffice to determine the issues raised between my report and your 'satisfactory proof of its falsity'

After several days' hearing that trial was concluded on the 14th instant I am happy to inform you that I and several of your neighbors attended the same as witnesses on behalf of the government

You had due notice of the time and place of that trial and had ample opportunity to prove by abundant testimony the character of the land and at the same time to vindicate yourself from the odium of fraud But although you knew that your reputation as a man and citizen—not to mention your veracity—was involved you even you did not have the nerve to appear or to defend Your position was and is indefensible The testimony adduced on the trial proved the truth of every material allegation made against you by me Your failure to defend and to assign any reason therefor are virtually a plea of guilty

It is scarcely necessary to notice your insinuations and slurs I did send word that I would like to talk with you about your entry of the land—it was my duty to do so It is true that I like a hundred thousand republican office holders before me was dismissed for being an "offensive partisan" But it may afford you some pleasure as you are a chief set supporter of this administration to learn that I was this spring employed by your party superiors to assist in the prosecution of some rascals of your politics in this state As your letter indicates a conceit that you secured my removal I cannot refrain from observing that fellows of your ilk receive very little or no consideration either from the people or from those who are sworn to protect them from rascally robbers and defrauders of their lands Witness the fact that in 1886 you as the democratic candidate for the legislature were repudiated and spurned by the electors of your district although it was a democratic stronghold where you had resided during a generation—while your successful opponent was quite unknown and a newcomer

Did it ever occur to you that your ignominious defeat on that occasion was attributable to your questionable possession of public land as much as to your reputation for virtue?

THE NEZ PERCE RESERVATION

Opening of a Vast Area in Idaho to White Settlers

Gen Gardiner inspector of Indian reservations arrived at Lewiston Idaho, on Monday to allot the Indians on the Nez Perce reservation their lands in severalty and was taken to the Lapwai agency by Agent Morris where he will at once commence his labors No measure of greater importance to Lewiston and Clearwater county has ever been projected nor one which promises to be of such material and permanent benefit as the opening of the surplus lands on this reservation to Caucasian occupation

The total area of land in the boundaries of the reservation is 746,000 acres about four fifths of which is prairie land suitable for agricultural purposes Commencing six miles above Lewiston the reservation extends up the main Clearwater river for nearly 100 miles taking in all the fertile prairies which slope gradually from the surrounding mountains towards the river The soil on these prairies is very deep and of wonderful fertility producing fruits of all kind in abundance and producing cereals of the finest quality in unheard of quantities to the acre

Surrounding the reservation on all sides are white settlers whose near neighborhood example and assistance have encouraged the Indians to labor for themselves so that the tribe has for many years been self sustaining and are farming extensively on their own account They have abandoned the tribal system and live without a chief Under the influences and teachings of the missionaries who live among them they have advanced to a point where they are head and shoulders above any other tribe on the coast in civilization and education

COTTAGE GROVE.

A Good Section for Grains, Vegetables, Fruit and Stock

Where Immigrants Can Secure Either Government Land or Railroad Land—Charming Scenery—The Bohemia Mines

COTTAGE GROVE Oregon July 24

Cottage Grove is an incorporated town situated on the west fork of the Willamette in Lane county and is on the Oregon & California railroad now part of the Southern Pacific about 141 miles south of Portland and twenty two miles south of Eugene It is immediately surrounded by a fine farming country and save in the direction of Eugene farther off is rolling hills which terminate on the east in the lofty Cascade mountains on the south in the hills of the Calipooia spur of the Cascades and in the west in the hills of the Siuslaw which is a spur of the coast range of mountains It is for this cause surrounded by varied and interesting as well as enchanting scenery of high lands low lands prairie benches glens mountain torrents and the sluggish streams willow and alder swales vine maple bottoms and the fir clad heights—a good country for the home seeker and tempting to the miner the hunter and the angler

The town is divided by the south fork of the Coast fork which is about eighty feet from bank to bank and is crossed by a good bridge It contains from 350 to 400 inhabitants and ranks as the second town in wealth in Lane county Eugene with a population of 3000 ranking first At this time there are two general merchandise stores one hardware stove and tin store one harness shop two drug stores two millinery stores two blacksmith shops one wagon and repairing shop two livery stables two hotels one saloon one flouring mill in the town and another good flouring mill is situated south of the town outside of the corporate limits one planing mill Wells Fargo & Company's express office the postoffice also a number of small shops and a number of professional men The town has a good public school which requires two teachers It also has a church edifice halls religious and benevolent societies which, with its fertile land charming scenery and transportation facilities make it a desirable place of residence At the station is a good depot with telegraph office freight house and warehouse

Mr F W Whipple who for many years carried on quite an extensive business there in the general merchandise line gives me the following figures showing the business of the place

Wells Fargo & Co—
Charges on express business per month	$ 150
Average money handled per month	4000
Average money orders per month	1000
Total	[illegible] 150
Post office—
Receipts about per month	$150
Shipments of produce—
Wool per year (pounds)	10 000
Wheat per year (bushels)	20 000
Oats per year (bushels)	8 000

Since the price of grain went down the farmers have gone more into the stock business and grow hay instead of grains The upper Siuslaw valley distant twelve miles west this year will ship 12,000 bushels of oats from Eugene (I have no estimate of the wheat) That valley three years ago sent all its grain from Cottage Grove The Whipple Bros held that trade and when their store and warehouse was burned for they did the greater part of the shipping of produce quite a business was lost to Cottage Grove

The crops were never better in this section than they are now The June rains did more good than harm Oats will yield ten bushels per acre more than average barley the same wheat six bushels and all other crops are at a low estimate 25 per cent above average This estimate I think from a trip through the Willamette valley will apply to it also so that if there are the average number of acres there will be an increase of 25 per cent in the crops

East from Cottage Grove there are several rivers and valleys The first is called Mosby creek It was named after David Mosby who owns a large farm in that valley He carries on an extensive business—raises a large quantity of grain and fruit and is also a stock raiser This creek is settled up from Cottage Grove ten miles There are many desirable locations within the ten miles and many more still further up the valley The land is rolling and covered with timber Mosby creek empties into Rowe river a much larger stream upwards of 100 feet from bank to bank Rowe river valley contains many fine farms It is the most fertile valley in this section This valley is settled a distance up from Cottage Grove of twenty miles Within this distance there is good locations yet vacant There is a prairie beyond this distance where a number of immigrants located claims this year It is said they are all well pleased with their locations and that there is room for more Rowe river unites with the South Fork of the Coast Fork two miles below Cottage Grove The valley of the South Fork is thickly settled to the summit of the Calipooia mountains Twelve miles west is the Siuslaw valley already referred to In the radius described there are several small valleys containing good farms

The land is productive plenty of timber good water wholesome mountain air warm enough to raise grain and vegetables all kinds of fruit except peaches and a fair corn country The nights are cool the summers long with short winters the thermometer seldom reaching zero Some stock live without feed on the range all winter but experience has taught nearly all to feed during two months the outside stock

There are several large farms that will be cut up to suit purchasers at prices from $5 to $25 per acre which is the usual price of improved deeded land

Forty miles due east from Cottage Grove is the Bohemia mining district. Twenty miles is wagon road and twenty miles of pack trail There are several mining locations there and are as follows The Old Knot mine gold bearing quartz free milling The lead is twenty feet wide and has two shafts one sunk down fifty seven feet and the other fifty five feet. They are connected by a tunnel Average yield $40 per ton There are several other leads in the vicinity of this mine that contain base metals with gold and silver both averaging from $12 to $40 per ton Six miles southwest is the Pierson mining claim free milling gold which is reported to have assayed $260 to the ton

Two miles west of the Pierson is George Brockdorff's silver mine

One half mile from Pierson's is Sharp's Silver Star mine which claims a yield of $100 to the ton with traces of silver

Eighteen miles from Cottage Grove on Sharp's creek are placers which pay $1 50 per day to the hand by rocker

Fifteen miles south of Bohemia is the Steamboat placer mines which also average $1 50 per day to the hand by rocker process

A company is now moving a five stamp mill in to the Bohemia district The placer mining season lasts from June 1 to November 1

Cottage Grove contains many advantages for the investment of capital in manufacture as its water power facilities are excellent Should any person wish to learn more about it farms unclaimed government land or unoccupied railroad lands or any other resource a letter addressed to S G Lockwood or Marion Martin business men of that place who wish to see the resources of that section developed during the lifetime of this generation will answer all communications or will inform persons who personally apply J F Kennedy will give information regarding the mines as he is a pioneer prospector in that district

O

A DISHONORABLE APOLOGY

Indianapolis Journal.

The Indianapolis Sentinel has the unique honor of being the only paper that has attempted a defense of the lie that Gen Harrison said "one dollar a day was enough for any workingman" The Sentinel says "Well if he did not say it he has always acted as if he thought so" How would it do to apply this rule to Cleveland?

Suppose we should say Grover Cleveland when an able bodied young man during the war, said "I will never join in the black republican crusade to abolish slavery and destroy the rights of the states, and if I am drafted I will send a substitute"

Or, Mr Cleveland said in 1864 "The democratic party was right in declaring at Chicago that the war was a failure. This Union never can be restored by force, and Lincoln and his hirelings might as well stop trying it"

Or Mr Cleveland said when mayor of Buffalo "What's the use of a man's wasting time to qualify himself for public office or public affairs? Politics is all a matter of luck anyhow and it makes no difference whether a man knows anything or not. If lightning is going to strike him, it will and there's an end of it"

Or when Mr Cleveland as governor of New York vetoed the 5-cent railroad fare bill, he remarked "The workingmen be d—d"

Or when informed of his first nomination for president he said to a boon companion "I knew they would nominate me it was a case of ground hog don't you see? The democracy were out of meat"

Or the day after his inauguration he was overheard to remark to Col Lamont "Now Dan we're good for four years here and it will be funny if I don't make it eight"

Or when he finished his first veto of a pension bill the forerunner of hundreds of others he remarked "I guess I can get up as early or sit up as late as congress can and we'll see who gets ahead on this business"

Or when first coached by Mr Carlisle in regard to the doctrine of free trade he said "Gentlemen it shall be the key note of the next campaign and we'll make a spoon or spoil a horn"

Suppose we should put any of these expressions in Mr Cleveland's mouth Any one of them would be as true as the remark attributed to Gen Harrison that "one dollar a day is enough for a working man" If it should be denied that Mr Cleveland ever made the remark attributed to him we could say as the Sentinel does "Well if he didn't say it he has always acted as if he thought it"

Expecting Too Much

Pittsburg Dispatch

There may be free traders whose belief in the doctrine is based upon philanthropical grounds but they are not English The London papers make no secret of their reasons for hostility to the American policy of protection Here are a few significant words from the London Economist "On the adoption of free trade by the United States depends the greater share of English prosperity for a good many years to come" If the writer means what he says it is apparent that he at least is basing his hopes of his country's future industrial prosperity on a very slender foundation We have free trade talk in abundance but there is no immediate danger that the government will adopt the policy Should it do so England would doubtless be the largest gainer but it will strike the average American that the Britons are raising their expectations high, only to be disappointed

Take it in Time.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a highly concentrated and powerful medicine. It is an anodyne expectorant, and, if promptly taken, in cases of Coughs, Throat or Lung troubles, soothes and heals the irritated tissues, and quickly allays all tendency to Consumption.

Six years ago, I contracted a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs, and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption I had a Cough, Night Sweats, Bleeding Lungs, Pain in my Chest and Sides, and was so completely prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am now as well and sound as ever.—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family, for Colds and Coughs, with infallible success, and should not dare to be without this medicine through the winter months—Russel Bodine, Hughesville, Lycoming Co, Pa.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, JULY 26.

A NOTABLE LETTER.

In sentiment and tone the letter signed "Visitor" is thoroughly and unmistakably Southern. It is a protest against equal rights, civil and political, for the colored race. In asserting that the "solidity" of the South is not due to loyalty to the memory of "the lost cause," but to "the negro question," the writer only substitutes one equivalent term for another. For the Southern Confederacy was founded on the doctrine of complete subordination of the colored man as a slave; while the Solid South, according to our writer, is founded on denial to the colored man of civil and political rights, that is, on the assumption that the colored man should not be and shall not be a factor in political society, that he is not to be counted among "the people" nor allowed to be a participant in the government, but is to be held in absolute subordination to the "ruling race." This idea is a mere survival of "the lost cause," and it doesn't change the fact as stated by THE OREGONIAN, to attribute the solidity of the South to it.

The effort to show that the so-called Chinese question on the Pacific slope presents a parallel case is an error; for the Chinese question, so-called, is not a "burning issue" here. Our people in general now care nothing about it. Blatant demagogues have, indeed, during the last twenty years been trying to "work" it, and in close contests the few votes they have been able to control have now and then helped a professional anti-Chinese politician to an election; but the great body of our people have neither fear of the Chinese, hatred of the Chinese nor prejudice against the Chinese. Our people have indeed insisted upon restriction of immigration of Chinese and have secured it, because the Chinese are wholly an alien people; because most of those who come to the country come under labor contracts; because they do not become, nor intend to become identified with the country, and because it is foreseen that the advent of a very large body of such a people would soon create deep disturbances of an industrial and social character. The Chinese do not seek naturalization, and the question of Chinese suffrage therefore never has been presented here. But the negro race is not alien as the Chinese race is; the negro in America has no other home; he is here and must remain. He therefore is included in the enumeration of the people of the United States, and citizenship will always be the heritage of his descendants.

There are only three states in which the colored population exceeds the white, and in these the colored preponderance is not great. If the Southern whites would accept the policy of the country and the requirements of the constitution in good faith, conceding to the colored man his political rights—at the same time endeavoring to show him that his true interest was bound up in the welfare of all, and using all proper influence to show him how to cast his vote for good government, there would be little or no trouble, even in the states where the colored population is heaviest. But instead, the Southern whites, or the great body of them adhering to their old idea of the subordination of the negro race—the idea on which their Confederacy was founded—have from the first denied the negro the rights which the constitution guarantees him; and since the whites have armed themselves against the exercise of these rights, have nullified them as far as they are able, and say as our visitor from the South plainly says, that they ought to be taken away, the colored man naturally does not look to the democratic white man for political advice, and does not wish to vote with those who deny his right to vote at all. Likewise every white man who asserts the right of the colored man to vote is proscribed; if he persists in his effort to make an effective political organization and to bring to the polls all the votes he can, he may expect severer treatment, and assassination is often the result. In many parts of the South there is protest, not only against "negro majorities," but against majorities to which the negro vote contributes even in a small degree. If an opposition candidate is elected, though a majority of the votes he receives are cast by white electors and only a minority by colored electors, the cry goes up, "We will not have the negroes for our masters!" Our correspondent comes from Texas. In 1880, but little more than one-fourth of the inhabitants of Texas were colored; perhaps not one-fifth of the inhabitants are of the negro race now. His statement "We object to the negroes as our masters," signifies, therefore, that the people for whom he speaks think they are ruled by negroes; that negroes are their "masters," even if the vote of the negro has contributed in but small degree to the result of the election.

In the North there is no race prejudice like this. In several Northern states the negro vote has for many years been at times a balance of power. It has frequently been the factor that has carried Indiana, Ohio, New York, Connecticut and other states. It has elected or defeated candidates even in Oregon. But in no Northern state, on these occasions, do we hear the cry, "We object to the negroes as our political masters." True, it will be said that negroes are more numerous in the South. Yet in each one of many Northern states there are many more colored voters than in West Virginia, which is said to go with the Solid South on this race question; and in Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, Delaware, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas, the colored population nowhere exceeding one-third, and in some of the states named not amounting to one-fifth, or even one-eighth of the whole, certainly does not portend "negro domination."

The notion that if in an election 20 per cent., more or less, of the votes are cast by colored men, and the successful candidates are supposed to have received a majority of them, the colored voters are therefore the "political masters" of the community, is peculiar to the South, and is plainly a survival of "lost cause" errors. Suppose 100 votes are cast for one candidate and 101 for another, and suppose one of the latter were cast by a negro, would he be the "political master" of the community? Whatever ground there may be for the protest in three states where the colored population outnumbers the white, there is not good ground for it in the greater portion of the Solid South.

Our Southern friend puts the case much more plainly and boldly than his political brethren in the North have the courage to do. They are careful not to declare that the amendments to the constitution were carried by duress, that they are not binding, and therefore should be rescinded, or may be overridden. Twenty years ago the democratic party of the United States made its canvass for the presidency on these propositions. The result did not encourage it to repeat the effort. They are careful not to assert now that the colored man ought not to be allowed to vote, and attribute results in the South to the allegation that he now votes the democratic ticket. Here, however, is a voice from the South which, if actual information were wanting, would suffice to show up the whole situation. That the South will, in time, come to a juster and more sensible view of things need not be doubted; but in parts of the South long time will be required for the growth of new ideas and the necessary readjustment. "That unhappy section," as our visitor calls it, is unhappy largely through its own fault, and will continue so till its deep-seated prejudices shall give way before the march of the ideas that dominate the great republic. The central idea that our government is a government of the people, by the people and for the people will stand, and with it stands the fact that the six or seven millions of our colored population are part of the people of the United States.

HARD TIMES IN CROOK COUNTY.

The democratic paper at Prineville, the center of one of the most fertile and productive sections of the state, has an editorial this week with the title "Hard Times." It says:

> Every business man in Crook county recognizes the fact that there is less money in circulation here at present than there has been for many years, and it is not to be wondered at, for as yet this season there has been nothing of consequence sold to bring money into the country. Almost the entire wool clip, amounting to about 2,000,000 pounds, has been shipped, and but little of it has been sold. The expense of running the sheep, shearing and shipping the wool, has consumed all the surplus left in the hands of sheepmen from last year's clip and the sale of mutton, so the wool growers are without funds.
> The prevailing hard times are having a detrimental effect upon the commercial interest of the country, and how long we can endure the pressure is becoming a serious question with all. It is generally believed there will be nothing done in the wool market until the adjournment of congress, and probably not till after the presidential election. Should this be the case, no returns from this year's crop of wool can be expected until about the first of December, which will put the wool-growers in very distressing circumstances; and as the wool industry is one of the principal sources of wealth to the country all other branches of business are crippled when it meets with reverses. From the present outlook it seems that the present hard times are liable to continue for some months to come, and we cannot expect business to be flourishing in Crook county until another season.

Notwithstanding all this, this same paper advocates the Mills bill, and does not appear to see that the deplorable situation which it so graphically portrays is directly due to this particular piece of legislation which the democrats in congress are trying to force upon the country. There is no over-production throughout the wool-growing sections that has caused the stagnation of the market. Here is the situation: The usual amount of wool has been grown. Instead of agents of wool buyers being found in every wool-growing region, competing with each other in the purchase of wool and even advancing money on the clips, as it has been in the past, there is now absolutely no market at all, except at such prices as prevail in the cheapest markets of the world. The tariff message of President Cleveland and the strength of the democratic party in congress have seemed to render it probable that the Mills bill would become a law. The clause in the bill putting wool on the free list provides that it shall go into effect on the 1st of October next. The Mills bill would favor the manufacturers, and, with so favorable an outlook for buying South American and Australian wools free of duty, is it to be wondered at that manufacturers will now pay no more for wool produced in the United States than they expect to pay for foreign wools in so short a time?

"The talk about free trade is bosh," says this particular democratic paper in another column. So far as the principal industry of Crook county, and the one upon which nearly all of its inhabitants depend directly or indirectly for support, is concerned, it is free trade, absolutely and undeniably.

TROUBLING THE ENGLISH.

Our Seattle dispatch of the 22d inst. announced the capture of six Chinamen while trying to enter the territory illegally. The end of this sort of thing is, we believe, not far distant, for the Chinese problem is crowding upon England for solution with far more severity than it ever did upon the United States. In the Australian colonies of Great Britain, whose population, including Tasmania and New Zealand, is but about three millions, there are already 41,000 Chinese, while by the census of 1880, there were only 105,000 Chinese in the United States to a population of more than fifty millions.

The people of Australia began by imposing a tax of $50 per head upon each Chinese immigrant. This heavy head tax did not check the immigration, which has grown rapidly since the United States began to put up the bars; so the Australian governments passed laws prohibiting the landing of Chinese on their shores, and several vessels loaded with Chinese, refused permission to land at Sydney, have been compelled to take their living freight back to China. A large number of these Chinese came from Hong Kong, an English colony, and can as plausibly claim to be English citizens as could a shipload of Bengalese from Calcutta. The Chinese government sent a commission to Australia to inquire into the situation, and they have officially reported that even the imposition of the entrance head tax of $50 by Australia was in violation of treaty stipulations with Great Britain, and recommended that China should for this reason insist upon its repeal.

Nine-tenths of the population of Australia are hostile to the further incoming of the Chinese and have passed colonial laws absolutely prohibitory in their character. British Columbia is also hostile to Chinese immigration and England will be compelled within a short time to respect the demand of her colonies and adopt the American policy of restriction and exclusion. In that event there would be no difficulty in enforcing our anti-Chinese legislation, for with Australia, Hong Kong and British Columbia sealed up as ports of arrival or departure the flight of the Mongolian locusts would not be able to reach our shores.

It is clear that Australia is in earnest; that she is suffering far more than the Pacific coast ever did, and that a speedy settlement by the English home government cannot be long deferred. Hence our Chinese exclusion legislation is likely to be effective and no longer evaded, since the Chinese tick has got among the English sheep.

It is noteworthy that the United States, like England, has itself to blame for Chinese immigration; for in 1869 Minister Burlingame was given a banquet in San Francisco, attended by the foremost citizens of that great community, and Gen. Halleck said in his speech upon that occasion that the barriers of oriental and occidental prejudice were broken down, and Gov. Haight and dozens of others echoed the sentiment. Australia too was once very glad to have the Chinese come, so that it is becoming for England and the United States both to remember their own responsibility for the presence of the Chinese when they grow impatient of their presence. California should in particular remember its own change of faith from that of 1869, when demagogues seek to slur Gen. Harrison on the score of his record. In his letter written as long ago as last February Harrison says he voted against the first Chinese restriction bill because it seemed to him in violation of our treaty with China, and because too he found it "a little hard to let go of the old idea that this is the free home for all comers," and concluded his letter by saying: "We do not need to ask anybody to come to this country now, as we formerly did and I think we have a right to preserve our institutions by exercising a fair election as to who shall come here. I do not like that class of immigration that comes in gangs; that can be driven into pens and on shipboard, and hired not by personal contract, but by bosses, and the Chinese immigration is very much of this sort."

The truth is that there has been a great change in public opinion on the subject of many classes of foreign immigrants besides Chinese within the last five years. The time was when many states, through commissioners, officially invited and tempted immigrants to our shores in thousands, that they repulse to-day, when possible. The American workingman of foreign birth to-day is not anxious to see further arrivals of many kinds of cheap labor besides the Chinese. The pauper labor of Europe really switches the back of our workingman on the Atlantic seaboard far more severely than Chinese cheap labor ever did that of any honest white worker on this coast. Both parties see what they did not see five years ago, that no tinkering with the tariff by either party will maintain our present standard of wages, if the pauper labor of Europe continues to pour into the United States at the rate it has maintained since 1868. Whether our presidents for the next twenty years shall be republican or democratic; whether our tariff leans to protection or free trade, we shall hardly be able to maintain our present rate of wages unless the wave of European pauper labor recedes, and we certainly shall not be able to maintain our present rate of wages for unskilled labor if that European wave increases or only maintains its volume.

THE SENATE OUGHT TO ACT.

It is now said to be thought probable that the senate will take no definite action this session on the tariff question, but will lay the Mills bill over and instruct its subcommittee to prepare during the recess a revision of it, to be submitted next session as a substitute.

Among those who are reported to have spoken on this subject is Senator Mitchell of Oregon. He is said to have expressed the opinion that the subject should be laid over till next session. His reasoning is this: "We are now on the offensive and can attack the Mills bill. If a substitute be proposed it will at once change the issue and place us on the defensive. Any tariff measure is bound to contain something which will not please some one, and will be open to criticism and attack. To my mind we hold the best advantage at present, and should not take any chance. We must attack and not defend."

It appears to us that this is not a wise view of the situation. It is almost a confession that the republicans are not able to agree upon a proper measure, and therefore are incompetent to legislate on the subject. It will open the party to the charge of being actuated by a spirit of fault-finding, yet of wanting capacity for wise constructive work. The senate ought to submit its bill. Then the case could go to the country in November.

As the case stands now the country knows what the democratic party would do. It ought also to know what the republican party would do. True, the republican party opposes the Mills bill. But opposition is not enough. The senate ought to formulate a bill that would interpret and define republican policy.

Consul J. Schoenhof reports from Tunstall, England, that of the cost of manufacture of Kersey cloth 22 cents per yard is for labor in America and 13¾ cents in England. The English weaver makes $2 92 per week as his wages. Under these circumstances and because of lower charges of other items of manufacturing cost the English can make a yard of cloth for 83 cents, while it costs $1 20 to make it in the United States. Consul Schoenhof is a democratic office-holder, and cannot be supposed to be misrepresenting the case to make a point against the policy of his party. The Philadelphia Press well says: "If in the future our workmen make cloth to compete with the English their wages will have to come down to $3 per week. There is no other way in this world to accomplish it."

The following from the Birmingham (Ala.) Age is a revelation as to the condition of politics in that state:

> To send a prohibitionist to the Alabama legislature by defeating a democrat is to send a radical there, and the revenge a democratic legislature will take will be to disregard him and to table in contempt all his measures. Every suggestion of policy in the line of prohibition requires that no such member shall appear in that body. If Birmingham and Jefferson county want prohibition they can obtain the necessary legislation as other towns and counties have obtained it. We put the question in all seriousness: Can a respectable white man, with due deliberation, commit so silly an act as to attempt to defeat a democrat by voting for a prohibitionist?

Judge Haynes, who was recently killed by the Skeena river Indians, the result of which murder has been a serious outbreak not yet quelled, was well known throughout Eastern Washington territory. He had resided at Osoyoos lake for twenty-four years, and while on the bench was a terror to all offending Indians. His murder was undoubtedly the work of revenge. The Indians in this section of British Columbia have been friendly in the past, and have always been well treated by the miners and prospectors who have gone into their territory. They are very numerous, however, and considerable trouble will be experienced in suppressing their uprising.

The vote in Oregon shows that third-party prohibition is on a decline. Reports from Indiana indicate a similar fact in that state. A dispatch from Indianapolis says that many sincere men in Indiana are dropping out of the third party movement, and the vote will be much less this year than heretofore. Besides, the manifest efforts of democratic political managers to push it have opened the eyes of many to the fact that it is worked largely as a campaign adjunct of that party. It is believed that the third-party prohibition vote of Indiana will be only nominal this year.

The comparative prosperity of the different counties in Washington territory may be pretty correctly arrived at by noting the lists of delinquent taxpayers in each, all of which are being published this month. Klickitat county has less than a half column or but eighteen persons who are delinquent upon real estate taxes. Kittitas county has but a little more; while in many of no greater population the delinquent list comprises from six to a dozen columns.

Mr. Henry George, in his Standard, says:

> Mr. Mills's speech in opening the tariff debate, as printed in full in the Congressional Record, justifies the impression produced by telegraphic reports. It is a manly, vigorous and most effective free trade speech, abounding with telling points that go to the very heart of protection.

Will not our democratic journals of Oregon, since they indignantly deny that Mr. Mills means free trade, send for copies of his speech and read them?

An effort is being made to establish a creamery at Grant's Pass. There is no better grazing section in Southern Oregon than Josephine county and farmers undoubtedly would gladly increase the number of their stock could they be assured a constant market for their milk, such as a creamery would afford. On the other hand, Grant's Pass is so near to Portland that the product of a well conducted creamery would find a ready sale at good profit.

The traveling salesmen of Binghamton, New York, have organized a club for Harrison and Morton. Many democratic salesmen have joined, and the membership is nearly 300 already. Their resolutions declare that the cause of their action is their conviction that the policy of the administration would deal a heavy blow to domestic industries. Binghamton is a great manufacturing point, whose products are sold all over the country.

A lot of "niggers"—the designation our fellow-citizens of African descent used to receive from the democratic party—hired by the administration to go to Indianapolis to hold a convention, broke up the proceedings in a row. Some wanted to pose as "independent niggers," and some as "democratic niggers;" so they split and held two "conventions." It doesn't matter much, since all men of color who respect themselves will vote for Harrison.

A close and compact definition of "free trade democrat" has long been wanted. A Detroit paper supplies it, viz.: "A free trade democrat is one who cries out against a 40 per cent. tariff on imports that come into competition with home industries, and demands a 68 per cent. duty on sugars to protect the democratic party in Louisiana."

Here is an editorial paragraph from the Victoria, B. C., Colonist, which will be read with interest in Oregon:

> It may be mentioned incidentally that popular opinion in Victoria, which being so close to the border naturally takes a deep interest in the result of the presidential election, inclines, so far as success is concerned, to the democratic ticket.

Says the Albany (Oregon) Democrat: "The issue of the campaign is falsely stated by the republicans. No proposition has been made for free trade." Now tell us whether a proposition has not been made for free trade in wool, in lumber, in salt, and some forty other things?

Home and Foreign Wool-Growers.

Indianapolis Journal.

The wool crop of the United States is worth about $90,000,000 a year. With the duty on foreign wool repealed, this amount, which now goes into the pockets of American farmers, will go to foreign wool-growers. Down with the bandana, and up with the American flag.

IN AND ABOUT PORTLAND.

TRIP TO TILLAMOOK.—Mayor DeLashmutt and Hon. R. Williams, who disappeared last Saturday, arrived home Tuesday night. They took passage on the Alliance Saturday for Tillamook, crossed out over the bar that evening, and crossed in over Tillamook bar at 1 P. M. Sunday. The boat drew ten feet of water, but went in without seeing any signs of bottom. An excursion came down from Tillamook City on the James A. Garfield to meet the Alliance, and gave her and her crew a hearty welcome. The Alliance proceeded to Tillamook City Sunday. Gov. Thayer and Judge Stott are visiting there, and growing fat on Tillamook butter and clams in seven different languages. The Alliance then stopped at Garibaldi, and the passengers went down to Bar View house for dinner. The trip was a most enjoyable one, and now that people can go to Tillamook and back in three days, many will visit that romantic and heretofore secluded section.

LIBELED FOR BLOOD MONEY.—Thomas Drummond yesterday libeled the British bark Roscrana lying at Astoria, where she was arrested by a deputy United States marshal. Plaintiff alleges that on July 9th he made a contract with the captain of the Roscrana to furnish six sailors for that vessel for whom he was to receive a certain sum per head. He procured seven men and held them in readiness to ship, and on the 24th instant, informed the master that he was ready to comply with the terms of the agreement between them. The master refused to fill his part of the contract, and the plaintiff claims that he has thereby been damaged in the sum of $150. This seems to be a new phase in the sailor's boarding business.

THE WASHINGTON STREET LINE.—A criticism appeared in the Evening Telegram this week upon the management of single track street railways in Portland. No doubt it was meant as a whack against Joe Holladay's line and as such was not misdirected, but, unfortunately the criticism was so general that it included the Washington street road. It is pleasant to record that since the new management took hold, and Mr. Julius Thielsen has been superintendent, the service has been excellent, both as to frequency of trips and speed of running, as all patrons of the line will testify. Lately, owing to the unloading of heavy timbers at the exposition building, there have been a few delays but these were unavoidable.

VERY SMALL FIRE.—About 10 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded from box No. 16. The department responded with alacrity, and appeared on the scene, on Second street near D. Before the engines could be brought into requisition the incipient blaze was extinguished. The fire was in the foundry of the Oregon Brass Works, and when first discovered a slender tongue of flame was beginning to climb up and lick around a wooden pillar near the rear part of the building. It is supposed the fire originated from the furnace, as the post stood close to it. A few buckets of water dashed on the flames quenched them quickly. Damages, nominal.

SAY THEY SWORE FALSELY.—Gov. Pennoyer on Tuesday received a petition for the pardon of August Schultz, who was convicted in Clackamas county for firing the barn of a neighbor named Drake and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. At the trial Schultz's wife and five children testified against him and Tuesday they presented themselves before the governor at Salem with affidavits setting forth that their previous testimony was false. They traveled from near Oregon City to Salem, about thirty-five miles, in an ox team to present their petition. Gov. Pennoyer deferred consideration of it for one week.

THAT G. A. R. EXCURSION.—Popular opinion has set in most favorably towards giving the G. A. R. boys a benefit for their relief fund and themselves the benefit of a delightful trip to the seaside on Saturday next. That nothing shall interfere with making it a grand success, General Passenger Agent Maxwell has most generously made the G. A. R. return ticket good until August 13—and again, those not able to get away on the 1 o'clock boat Saturday can take the boat that leaves at 11 P. M.

TRAVEL YAQUINA-WARD.—Mr. Wallis Nash of the Oregon Pacific railroad, who is at the Holton, says that the summer travel toward Yaquina bay has commenced. Saturday last three carloads of pleasure-seekers, the first big lot of the season, were landed at Yaquina City. They came from valley points, and many were Portlanders. The great amusement at the bay this season, Mr. Nash says, is sail boating, in which great interest is taken, and spirited races are quiet frequent.

ROBBERY.—J. Dudfield of San Jose, who is staying at the Occidental hotel, claims that he was robbed of $83 Tuesday, but how he does not know. The door of his room was securely locked during the night. When he retired Tuesday night he threw his trousers alongside his bed, and he suspects that the thief thrust a hooked pole through a window opening on the porch or through the transom and took them outside and removed the money from them.

AT CASCADE SPRINGS.—List of arrivals at Cascade springs since last report: Mr. and Mrs. Malone, Mrs. Judge Shattuck, Mrs. Barnes and four children, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goddard and child, Ed Goddard, Miss E. Goddard, N. B. Ingalls, W. Price, M. Katten, M. Andrews and Frank Moffett, Portland; Capt. and Mrs. Sampson and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Moses, Master Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Story and Miss Story, The Dalles.

REAL ESTATE MEN WANT TO PLAY BALL.—It is proposed by the several real estate dealers of Portland to contribute a substantial sum to any charitable institution of Portland, and in order to insure this commendable object it has been decided praiseworthy to institute a game of baseball between the real estate and legal fraternity of Portland. The features of the game will, no doubt, be many.

BIG DIVORCE BUSINESS.—John B. Duff has been clerk of the state circuit court for twenty-three days, during which time seventeen divorce suits have been filed with him. The last one is the suit of Isabella Forstner vs. Frederick Forstner, which was begun yesterday. The parties were married in Portland February 15, 1880. Plaintiff alleges cruelty and abuse as the grounds for her suit.

NEW COUNTY BRIDGES.—Plans and specifications have been prepared for a county bridge on the Portland and St. Helens road, one near the fifteen-mile post and another on the Slavin road, near the residence of John Slavin. Bids for the construction of the same will be received at the office of the county clerk until August 8, at 10 P. M.

REMAINS TO BE TAKEN EAST.—The funeral services of the late Mrs. T. G. Murphy of Portland Heights will take place at St. Lawrence church this morning at 9:30. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. Augustus Merino of Philadelphia, to which city the remains will be conveyed. The immediate cause of death was a tumor.

FREE LIBERAL LECTURE.—Samuel P. Putnam, president American Secular Union will lecture at Nonpareil hall, First and Madison, Friday evening, this week. Subject, "The Glory of Infidelity."

OFF TO-NIGHT.—The steamer Alliance will sail for Shoalwater bay at 8 o'clock this evening. Freights will be received to-day.

LOCAL NOTES.

Hand Ton directory for sale. J. K. Gill & Co.

Don't forget "Barbarossa" at New Park theater Friday night.

W. Breen was fined $5 by Justice Tuttle yesterday for assault on Edward Parshley.

Mason, Ehrmann & Co. will ship a carload of provisions to the Roslyn, W. T., sufferers to-day.

The store of H. P. Gregory & Co. was closed yesterday on account of the death of H. P. Gregory.

Mr. William H. Street has removed his office from 167 First street to room 11 Portland Savings Bank building.

County Clerk E. C. Wheeler has generously decided to make no charges for executing pension papers for war veterans.

The addition to the courthouse vault will be finished in about two weeks and Circuit Court Clerk Duff's new office will be ready for occupancy.

A boy named Willie Pippin was arrested yesterday charged with stealing council fruit on the steamboat dock. He says that another boy gave him the fruit.

Seid Back, the well known Chinese, merchant, contemplates leaving for China on a trip of business and pleasure about November 1, and will stay four months.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for G. Wilson and Sallie Campbell, Lum Yee and Ah Ho, Barney Wiggen and Henrietta Debash, Dr. B. E. Miller and Jessie Burbank, C. A. Petrarchi and A. Rosencrantz.

Declarations of intention of becoming citizens were filed with the county clerk yesterday by Charles Reemer, a native of Germany; F. J. Edney, a native of England, and August Benson, a native of Sweden.

John Turner, who formerly kept a saloon in the Vacuna house, will have a hearing in the police court to-day on a charge of assaulting and beating C. A. Allsky, with whom he had a dispute in relation to the lease of the Vacuna house.

About a week ago Herman Gerson, a custom house inspector under Collector H. Abraham, left Portland for San Francisco, owing to poor health. For some time prior to his departure Gerson had been suffering from malarial troubles. Yesterday news was received here that he is now lying quite low in San Francisco.

Mr. T. P. Lawrence, who is connected with the International Terra Cotta Lumber Company at Chicago, is at the Esmond. He was assigned to represent the company at Los Angeles, but an examination has assured him that town is a good distance away from the center of business, and he will locate either in Portland or San Francisco. He likes Portland very much.

It was the expectation of the United States hull and boiler inspectors—J. L. Ferguson and Frank McDermott—to leave Portland yesterday for Tillamook to inspect several boats there; but, in consequence of the severe illness of Mr. Ferguson, the trip was postponed. Monday Mr. Ferguson was at the office transacting business, but he was complaining of feeling quite ill. Yesterday he sent word over that he was not able to start for Tillamook.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Kapus will leave for the seaside to-day to be gone a week.

Secretary of State George W. McBride was at the St. Charles yesterday.

Mr. E. W. Philips left last night for Ellensburgh, W. T., to engage in photography.

County Judge John Catlin returned yesterday from a business trip to Hillsboro.

Mr. O. H. McIsaac has placed the sale o his Hand Ton directory on sale at J. K. Gill & Co.

Mr. O. F. Paxton left last night for San Francisco on business. He will return in two weeks.

Mr. H. M. Thatcher returned yesterday to the city after three years stay in California. He will probably remain here.

Mr. M. G. Hall, superintendent of the Northern Pacific express, and family, returned from St. Paul last evening.

Mr. A. N. Towne, general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, is expected to arrive here to-day from San Francisco.

Dr. B. E. Miller was married last night to Miss Jessie Burbank at the residence of the bride's parents, Rev. J. Q. A. Henry officiating.

Mrs. L. B. Stearns and daughter have gone to Oakland, Oregon, on a visit to Judge Stearns's parents and will be gone a month. Judge Stearns will join them in two weeks.

Bishop Morris, who has gone to England to be in attendance on the Pan-Anglican council will not return to his jurisdiction probably until November, as he expects to remain in the Eastern states to attend the missionary council.

Mr. James P. Agnew, in the auditing department of the O. R. & N. Co., was married yesterday morning to Miss E. E. Dickerson, at the Cathedral, Rev. Father Edward O'Dea officiating. Mr. Agnew has many friends here who wish him every manner of joy.

Private letters have recently been received from the Rev. John W. Sellwood, bearing date of Honolulu, Sandwich islands, to which point he started some time since in the hope of benefiting his health. Many friends of the reverend gentleman will be pleased to learn that his health has been much improved, and that the sea voyage has accomplished for him all that was hoped from it.

Don't wait until you are sick before trying Carter's Little Liver Pills, but get a vial at once. You can't take them without benefit.

Moulton's hotel at Sea View will open Tuesday, June 26, for the summer season of 1888.

There will be a meeting of the Southern Oregon Fruit Growers' Association at Central Point on Saturday July 28th. All persons interested in fruit culture are earnestly invited to attend.

Singular Youthful Depravity.

The boy McAlister, in jail for murder at Jacksonville continues to puzzle his keepers. He keeps his own counsel about the circumstances attending the commission of the crime. In conversation with a visitor last Sunday he was telling how he enjoyed seeing butterflies and other insects squirm when deprived of their wings.

Attacked by Yellow Jackets.

Yaquina Post: On Sunday, as Rev. Chas. Booth and family and Mr. Whitten were on their way from Toledo to Newport, the team was attacked by yellow jackets, when a circus occured. Mr. Whitten succeeded in controlling the team until all hands got out of the vehicle, and then he let 'em go. The hack was distributed along the Apian way, while the excursionists arrived later but uninjured.

Slaughtering Deer.

The protection thrown around deer having ceased to be operative the first of the present month, hunters are busily engaged in the mountains slaughtering those animals, says the Jacksonville Times. Quite a number of fine antlers have been brought to the city market. At this season of the year they are "in the red," as the hunters say and though not as fat as they are later in the season, the venison is delicious.

Fall From the Jetty.

Yaquina correspondence: Mr. Wm. Young, who is here on a visit, while out at the end of the government jetty on Tuesday morning, stepped upon a plank which tipped, precipitating him into the briny depths some twenty feet below. The tide was on the ebb but was still quite high, which saved him from instant death. As it was he had a very narrow escape, the surf is very heavy at that point and the young man had a hard struggle for existence, but finally succeeded in getting out with only a few scratches.

Land Contest.

The railroad company contest the right of John Beavenue, Sr., to file on his claim at the head of Rich gulch, in Jackson county, although he has been in possession and had substantial improvements on the claim since about 1881. The company hold that he has forfeited the right to file through his negligence. The bulk of the decisions are in favor of the settler in such cases, and the Roseburg land office has uniformly held that the "bona fide" settler who had improvements on his claim prior to the withdrawal in favor of the railroad should be allowed to file and prove up.

Charged With Fraud.

Ochoco Review: At the investigation of Stewart, Pett & Co., Charles McKenzie of Prineville was arrested Tuesday on a charge of attempting to put his property out of his hands for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, and was lodged in jail. On Thursday he went before the county court on a writ of habeas corpus, asking to be discharged. The petition was denied by the court, and he was again remanded to the custody of the sheriff. How long he will have to remain in jail is not determined, but if he has no means of satisfying his creditors it looks as if he may have a long term of confinement.

Ensilage Experiments.

Puyallup Commerce:—J. V. Meeker is the first Puyallup citizen to experiment with ensilage. He is filling up a silo, inside dimensions of which will be fifteen feet square and eighteen feet high above the sills, with a capacity of about eighty tons of green fodder. To fill this space he sowed oats and peas together. This crop now stands fully five feet and a half to six feet high, and will be ready to cut and stow away about August 1. It is calculated that the eighty tons of green fodder crowded into this small space will be equal to twenty-five tons of hay. When taken out of the silo such material weighs forty to fifty pounds to the square foot.

Mistaken for a Burglar.

Messrs. George Salterfield and N. A. Ward live in the same house on a ranch, about seven miles below Eugene. Last Friday night Mr. Salterfield, not feeling well, got up and went into the kitchen of Mr. Ward to get some medicine, and Ward's wife hearing the noise, called her husband, who got his gun, opened the kitchen door and asked, "Who is there?" but receiving no reply fired a load of buckshot, striking Mr. Salterfield in the thigh, inflicting a dangerous wound. A physician was called, who fixed up the bones and dressed the wounds, and hopes to be able to save the limb, but is by no means certain that it can be done.

A Serious Accident.

Mr. W. H. Striker and 14-year-old son, Willie, were driving a two-horse team along the road near Mr. Marion Bennett's, in Lane county. The team became frightened and ran away. Mr. Striker jumped out of the wagon to try and catch the horses by the bridle. The boy was driving, and clung to the lines, doing all in his power to stop the team, when a tug became detached, the tongue dropped down, and, sticking in the ground, the wagon was overturned, throwing him several feet in the air. In falling both his wrists were unjointed and his left arm bones broken near the elbow. He was otherwise badly bruised. He will probably recover.

Mysterious Case of Poisoning.

Jacksonville Times: News reaches us of the supposed poisoning by strychnine on Wednesday July 11, of Miss Winne Reed of Keno, Klamath county. Miss Reed had been ill for some days and was taken with violent convulsions about 10 o'clock in the evening of that day, the case being pronounced strychnine poisoning by Dr. A. A. DePuy of Linkville, who was at once summoned and administered the required antidotes. The victim will live, but has not sufficiently recovered yet to make a coherent statement of the matter. The theory at present is that the strychnine was given in her medicine, as she complained of its extremely bitter taste, although if such is the case the poison failed to act for at least four hours after it was administered. The case is a delicate one, involving several persons, and in the interest of justice we refrain from giving further particulars.

Rosalia, W. T.

Rosalia Rustler: Rosalia is about eight months old, although the town has been laid out for a number of years. But when we say she is eight months old, we mean that about that period she commenced to grow, and to-day she is twice as large as she was two months ago. Its growth has been unprecedented outside a mining district, and has fairly rivaled some of the mining booms of the mountain region in the "flush days" of 1879 and 1880. There are fully 150 buildings now in this place, besides a large number under contract that will be commenced as soon as the lumber can be procured. The buildings are of a substantial character and many of them display architectural taste. It is safe to predict that it will have five hundred people sixty days from the present time. Rosalia has more than doubled within the last two months, and those who made purchases at the start could sell to-day and have handsome margins.

Quartz Discovered in Crook County.

Ochoco Review: This week C. B. Baker showed us specimens of rock taken from two quartz ledges recently discovered on Crooked river, about 20 miles from Prineville. Mr. Baker has had assays made on rock from both ledges, one of which gives a return of $34 50 silver and $4 gold, and the other $34 50 silver, with a trace of gold. The specimens shown us appear to be carbonates, and the rock is consequently free milling. Mr. Baker informs us the ledges are so located that they can be easily opened, and the cost of operating them would be comparatively light. There being no reduction works nearer than Portland, the expense of making a mill test of the rock would be great, hence probably little will be done toward opening the mines, unless capitalists can be induced to take hold of them. Were there a test mill located at Prineville, it would be a great incentive to prospectors to devote some time to developing the numerous ledges that are found in the country, and might be the means of developing some excellent mines in this county, though we could not say that a test mill would be a profitable investment except as a means of developing the mining resources of the country.

METHODIST UNIVERSITY.

Work Soon to Begin on the New Educational College at Tacoma.

Tacoma Ledger.

Rev. J. F. De Vore states that the Puget Sound Methodist university buildings will be commenced early in August. The grounds upon which the edifice is to be erected are still in litigation, but the matter will be settled by that time, and the university is to be built in any event. There are eighteen acres in the grounds, lying between Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets and between I and M streets. It is proposed to have J and K streets vacated and the grounds thrown, for the greater part, into one large area for a campus. The design is to have a semi-circular drive running from the intersection of I and Twenty-first streets around to the west as far as L street and back to the intersection of I and Twenty-third.

The main building will be erected on a high point in the center of this semi-circle, the highest ground in the city. It will be 60x100 feet, will be of brick, with a heavy stone foundation, and will be four stories high, besides the basement. The plans are not yet drawn, but the architects are at work on them and the design is to make it one of the most beautiful educational structures in this part of the country. The ground given to the university, estimated at the time to be $50,000, could now be sold for $100,000.

A MYSTERIOUS CRAFT.

A Belief that Opium Smugglers are Operating at Yaquina Bay.

The Newport News relates the following particulars of the appearance of a suspicious craft at Yaquina:

A little boat some twenty feet in length rigged with sails and furnished with a miniature cabin, came into port Saturday morning. The craft contained but a single occupant, who being questioned said he was from Shoalwater bay, where the boat was built and equipped by himself and partner for the purpose of going to Alaska on a prospecting voyage. They afterwards learned, by what means he did not say, that they could not enter the particular river they wished to and therefore changed their course south instead of north. He also stated that when they were at the mouth of the Columbia his partner became alarmed at the danger of navigation in so small a boat, and deserted the ship, leaving him all alone. He said his intention was to prospect along the coast, but he was very anxious to sell his boat, offering to take half of its value.

Whether the man's story is true we have no means of determining. The general opinion, however, is that instead of being a prospector, he is one of the many opium smugglers who now infest this coast, and that he has probably landed his cargo in this vicinity. This theory is strengthened by the fact that the same craft was seen anchored off Cape Foulweather a few days before entering here, and that two men were observed on board of her at that time. The craft remained anchored in front of Oissonville until Monday, when it disappeared. In what direction it sailed is not known.

Much More Wonderful.

Chicago Herald.

The story of a Chicago girl who arrested a burglar is having a long and successful run in the outside papers. If a story like this excite such interest, what would these papers think of a story of a Chicago policeman who arrested a burglar?

Laura Bridgman While Asleep.

Dr. Clymer, in the Forum.

The dreams of the deaf mute are still a virgin field. Prof. G. Stanley Hall has studied the dream life of Laura Bridgman. He says her sleep is constant dreaming. The tactual-motor sensations by which she receives her mind food, and communicates with her fellow-beings and gets her knowledge of the external world, chiefly supply her dream food. She will suddenly talk a few words with her fingers, too rapidly and too imperfectly to be understood, never making a sentence. All the people that enter into her dreams talk with their fingers. Sight and hearing terms are absent, or, strictly speaking, vague, and more likely to be akin impressions—heat and jar. In her journal the terms of sight she uses show great limitations of her notion of this sense. She speaks of hearing with her feet: "I placed a little chair before me. I put the musical box on it, so I could feel it play with my feet."

DECLINED LINCOLN'S OFFER.

A Woman Still Living in Texas to Whom Lincoln Offered Marriage in 1832.

Honey Grove, Tex., July 12.—A country correspondent of the Semi-Weekly Texas Citizen, published here, furnished the following item to his paper of yesterday:

Mrs. William Drenan, a respectable lady of this county, once refused to marry Abraham Lincoln, who was afterwards president.

Wishing to know if the statement made by the correspondent would "wash," and having a curiosity to see and talk to a lady who had been offered, and declined, an alliance with the martyr president, a Globe-Democrat reporter and friend this morning started out in search of the residence of the lady in question.

It had rained the night before, and although we were seated behind a splendid livery team, which the proprietor said was good for ten miles an hour, we found the road to the Drenan farm quite hard to travel. The black land of old Fannin, which is said to be worth $1 a foot, and which sells rapidly at $100 an acre when it is sold at all, presents serious obstacles to rapid locomotion in damp weather. After winding around through the creek bottom, however, and through lanes, the turnings of which were entirely too numerous, we were rewarded, after about two hours' travel, by a glimpse of what a colored gentleman whom we had subsidized informed us was the Drenan farm.

It is a typical North Texas farm, consisting of 600 acres in the highest state of cultivation, every acre of which is good for a bale and a half of cotton, thirty bushels of wheat, forty or fifty bushels of corn, and other things in proportion, there being nothing adapted to this soil and climate that is not produced on this model farm.

AT THE DRENAN HOUSE.

A substantial double frame house, with a gallery extending the entire length of the south side, was the Mecca in front of which we finally drew rein. A full-blooded Irish setter, an English pointer and half a dozen greyhounds greeted our approach, mingled with cries of "Come back" from an old gentleman, and an invitation to "Light and come in."

We were greeted with a cordial "Good morning" by a cheery old gentleman of 73 summers, who kindly invited us to enter with the genuine old-time Texan hospitality, and in the same breath asked how he could serve us. A statement of our desire to see Mrs. Drenan elicited from the old gentleman a cry of "Old woman," which was answered almost immediately by the appearance of a tall, well-preserved lady of dignified and prepossessing appearance, to whom our host presented us in due form, and who proved to be the lady we were in search of, and who once declined the honor of an alliance with Abraham Lincoln.

In answer to our questions Mrs. Drenan informed us that she was a native of Buncombe county, N. C., where she was born in May, 1816, and from whence her parents moved to Sangamon county, Ill., in 1830. Shortly after their settlement in Sangamon county she met young Mr. Lincoln at one of the social gatherings which were rather infrequent at that early day, and the acquaintance thus casually made was continued until 1832, sometime in the autumn of which year Mr. Lincoln made the young lady, Miss Martha Wilson, a formal offer of marriage.

A previous attachment, however, led Miss Wilson to decline the offer of Mr. Lincoln, for whom, she protests, she had a sincere, though Platonic, regard. She gave us many reminiscences of the early life of the rail-splitter president and his associates, which would make interesting reading matter for the present generation, from which the following incident is offered as showing the straightforward, homely character of Mr. Lincoln:

A STORY OF LINCOLN.

Mrs. Drenan said that at one time, before Mr. Lincoln had proposed to her, she attended church one Sunday at a place which was several miles from her home, and was accompanied by three other young ladies of her neighborhood, all of them riding to the place of worship on horseback. The party of girls were escorted by a couple of youths of tender age, and among the congregation assembled was the mother of Mr. Lincoln, who also came on horseback, by herself, her son "Abe" being absent at the county seat, attending to some legal business. Before the conclusion of the services a thunderstorm came up, and when the congregation was dismissed the rain was descending in torrents. The young ladies were standing in the school house in which the services had been held, debating whether they should start out in the rain or wait till it was over, when Mr. Lincoln was seen driving along the road in a covered or "top" buggy, the road passing in front of the school house. Naturally the young ladies began to speculate as to which one of them would be invited to a seat in his buggy, finally agreeing that he would certainly ask Miss Wilson, as it was current neighborhood gossip then that he "was sweet" on her. Mr. Lincoln stopped in front of the house, came in, and after shaking hands with the preacher and speaking to the numerous friends, walked over to one corner of the building where his mother sat conversing with some other ladies, and said:

"Come on, ma, I'll take you home."

In 1833 Miss Wilson was married to Mr. David Drenan in Sangamon county, Ill., Mr. Drenan being a native of Caldwell county, Ky., where he was born in 1816, being about three months the senior of his wife, with whom he has lived happily for fifty-five years. They moved to Texas in 1842, and settled on the place where they now reside and where they have lived ever since. Some of the leading and wealthiest people of Honey Grove claim descent from this venerable couple, several sons, daughters and granddaughters being among our most estimable people.

A TEXAS PIONEER.

Mr. Drenan, too, gave us many reminiscences of his early life, both in Illinois and Texas. In speaking of Mr. Lincoln, he said he heard him make the first political speech he ever made, when he was a candidate for the legislature. Mr. Drenan said he was always a warm friend of Mr. Lincoln's, and afterward became an ardent admirer of him. Just prior to the removal of the Drenan family to Texas, Mr. Lincoln visited them at their home and tried to dissuade them from their contemplated move to the then wilderness of Texas, and spent three days with them at their Illinois home. Mr. Drenan has always been a staunch republican, and he says he sees no reason to change his politics at this late hour. He says the first vote he ever cast was for William Henry Harrison, the grandfather of the present republican candidate for president. He helped to build the first and original log cabin that was used in the campaign when old Tippecanoe made the race, and took an active, though perhaps not very prominent part in that campaign.

After his arrival in Texas, Mr. Drenan took a hand at what was at that time the principal diversion of the country—fighting Indians—and one could listen indefinitely to his thrilling adventures, which are related with that modesty which is characteristic of all brave men.

Although opposed to secession, Mr. Drenan entered the Confederate army, in which, however, he never saw any active service. He was a slaveholder, too, but says he was and is heartily glad that the "peculiar institution" was overthrown.

Mr. and Mrs. Drenan are both hale and hearty, and their general appearance and bearing give evidence of a life well spent. They are held in high esteem by all their neighbors, and in fact by all who know them. Though possessed of plenty of this world's goods, they both work yet. Mr. Drenan says he can do as much plowing in a day as any of his neighbors, and is considerable of a sportsman. Mrs. Drenan prepared a dinner for us that would have tempted the appetite of any one, and she does the most of her household work. She says she has always led an active life and she cannot bear to be an idler in her declining years.

DRIFT OF POLITICS.

The Revolt Against Cleveland and Free Trade in New York.

Large Lists of Democrats Who Have Declared Against the Present Policy of the Party.

The revolt in the democratic party against the free traders is taking on great proportions. It is especially noticeable in the manufacturing states. Democrats look on panic-striken, for they can detect no sign of a counter movement in their direction. One of the greatest manufacturing districts in the United States is Central New York, on a line running through from Troy and Albany to Buffalo. In that district changes from the democratic party to the republican are announced by hundreds. Nothing like it has been witnessed since the revolt from the democratic party on the slavery question. The Troy Times, of July 14, has this article:

The democratic leaders and newspapers in this locality are terribly frightened over the revolt in their party against Cleveland and free trade. The signs of demoralization multiply daily. In the frenzy of dismay they grasp at any device, however dishonorable, to check the rising tide of protection sentiment that threatens to engulf and destroy the free traders. Their latest trick is to deny that the democrats of this city and the democratic manufacturers of Cohoes and other places who have openly avowed themselves for Harrison, Morton and protection, are democrats at all.

The denial is an utter falsehood. Let us see. Here are some well-known Trojans among others who have declared against Cleveland and free trade:

Ex-Congressman J. M. Warren.
Ex-Mayor George B. Warren.
Ex-Mayor W. L. Van Alstyne.
Ex-Comptroller John D. Spicer.
James O'Neil.
Pierce Kane.
Stephen W. Barker.

Are these gentlemen democrats?

Hon. Joseph M. Warren, Hon. George B. Warren and Hon. W. L. Van Alstyne have all held the office of mayor of this city, were elected as democrats, and their democracy has never been challenged. Mr. Spicer, ex-comptroller, has been a democrat since he became a voter. James O'Neil and Pierce Kane are democrats of such prominence that it is absurd to question their political standing. Mr. Barker was one of the original incorporators, stockholders and trustees of the Troy Press company. He is still a trustee of that corporation.

Is Mr. Barker a democrat?

Here is the Gloversville and Amsterdam contingent:

W. A. Lansing,
O. H. Bame,
W. A. Sears,
Morgan Snell of Gloversville,
L. L. Dean of Amsterdam.

Are these gentlemen democrats?

And now for Cohoes. Here are the names of democratic manufacturers who have pronounced for Harrison and Morton, and whose names appear on the roll of the Cohoes city central protection club:

Jonathan Hiller, proprietor of the American Hosiery Mill.
Charles F. North, of the Anchor Hosiery Mill.
Charles F. Doyle, of the Anchor Hosiery Mill.
David Akin, of W. H. & D. Akin.
W. H. Akin, of W. H. & D. Akin.
David Fuld, of Fuld & Bochlowitz.
Herman Bochlowitz, of Fuld & Bochlowitz.

Mr. Hiller is a life-long democrat and has held office as a trustee when Cohoes was a village, and as a fire commissioner and school commissioner of the city, being elected on the democratic ticket. He worked and voted for Mr. Cleveland in 1884.

Is Mr. Hiller a democrat?

Mr. North has been a democratic alderman of Cohoes, was for four years the democratic chamberlain of the city, and now represents the democratic party in the non-partisan police board of Cohoes.

Is Mr. North a democrat?

Mr. Doyle is a prominent democratic lawyer, and has served the city as recorder, a position to which he was appointed by a democratic mayor.

Is Mr. Doyle a democrat?

Now will our democratic friends, once for all, cease denying the fact that the gentlemen who have in interviews published in the Times renounced Cleveland and free trade and declared for Harrison. Morton and protection, have always been democrats in good standing?

Why not admit the truth, damaging as it may be to the free trade cause?

WHAT MEN SAY.

The Troy Times, continuing its record, publishes what the men who are deserting the democratic party say. Here are some specimens:

Hon. Joseph M. Warren was elected to congress by the democrats in 1870. He was mayor of Troy in 1851. Mr. Warren says:

"I believe in protection; I don't think our country can exist without it. Our institutions would go down without protection. Mr. Harrison represents protection; Mr. Cleveland certainly is in favor of free trade, and has committed himself to that doctrine—a doctrine which I cannot uphold."

Hon. George B. Warren, ex-mayor of Troy, and a prominent democrat, says:

"Cleveland's free trade made me sick. It was bad politics. I know of several who think the same way, and they will not go for Cleveland again. My son, Ogle T. Warren, will cast his first vote this fall. He will vote for Harrison and Morton. I am sick of Cleveland's free trade policy."

Hon. William L. Van Alstyne, another democratic ex-mayor of Troy, says:

"I shall not vote for Cleveland and Thurman. I don't like the platform they stand on—the free trade platform. I think the manufacturing industries of this city should be fostered and cared for. Troy is a manufacturing center, and its industries should be fostered and cared for. Troy is a manufacturing center, and its industries should be protected. I shall cast my first republican electoral vote for Harrison and Morton."

William E. Hagan, chairman of the independent republican organization in Troy four years ago, said:

"I shall not vote for Cleveland. I am not a free trader. I worked energetically for Cleveland's election four years ago. I am satisfied with the national republican ticket. It is an excellent ticket.

Adolph Staude, a well-known manufacturer and merchant, said:

"I voted for Cleveland four years ago, but I am now for Harrison and protection. I know many Germans who voted for Cleveland who are coming out for Harrison this fall. A man who votes to cut his own throat is a fool. If we should ever come to free trade and European wages in this country, God help the workingmen! The republican ticket suits the Germans."

Stephen W. Barker, a life-long democrat, of this city, is at Wheeling, W. Va. A dispatch from that city to the New York Press says Mr. Barker has announced his intention of voting for Harrison and Morton, though heretofore he has been an active democrat. The passage of the Mills bill, he declares, would necessitate the closing of his mill and make wool-growing a losing industry. Even at present manufacturers dare not pay a price for wool which will induce the farmers to sell. The only thing, in his opinion, which will restore confidence is the defeat of Cleveland.

Henry Lobdell, a well-known business man and proprietor of an extensive paper-hanging store on Third street, says: "I don't believe in free trade. This is a large manufacturing country, and we ought to be in condition to compete successfully with the manufacturers of the world. A man that cannot see the benefits of protection had better study the subject. I have always voted the democratic ticket. I voted for Cleveland for president the last time, but I shall not vote for him again. I shall vote the republican ticket this fall, if I vote."

John Flynn, a life-long democrat and dealer in knit goods in this city, says:

"I am and propose to remain a democrat, but on this issue of whether I shall blindly follow the party in support of a measure which must prove disastrous to my line of business, or vote as my judgment dictates on the national ticket, my plain duty is to oppose the Mills tariff bill by voting against its supporters, and I have the satisfaction of knowing that other loyal democrats intend to do likewise.

O. F. Burtis, senior member of the stove firm of Burtis & Mann, and a life-long democrat, says: "I shall vote for Harrison and Morton this fall. The issue is free trade or protection. Cleveland represents free trade and Harrison represents protection. I speak from a democratic standpoint, for I have never voted for a republican president in my life."

James O'Neil, a prominent real estate owner and merchant and director of the Central National bank, says: "I shall vote the republican national and congressional ticket this fall. When a man who has been a democrat all his life chages his politics he ought to have some good reason for the change. I am for protection, and ever since Cleveland's free trade message was sent to congress I have been resolved to vote against free trade.

Of the twenty knitting mill proprietors at Amsterdam only one establishment is known to be for Cleveland and free trade. L. L. Dean, senior proprietor of the Park knitting mills, and who has been a democratic city official, says:

"I shall not vote for Cleveland—I shall have nothing to do with the democratic party this fall, nor never again unless the party shall change from the doctrines it now enunciates. I shall vote for Harrison and Morton and the republican congressional nominee this fall. I don't say that I am done with the democratic party for all time, but the democratic party must change its position on the tariff question before I will have anything more to do with it. The result of free trade would be a reduction of the wages of our employes. The wages paid here would have to come down to the basis of the wages paid by our competitors—England and Germany."

Pierce Kane, a knit-goods manufacturer and a prominent democrat, is a brother of the late Nicholas T. Kane, a democratic congressman. He says:

"I have never voted anything but the democratic ticket. If I live till next election day I will vote for Harrison and Morton. I employ 150 or more operatives. I am a protectionist. I will not vote for Cleveland. I know what my own interests are, and will do my best to protect them."

AT COHOES, NEW YORK.

The business men and manufacturers of Cohoes are practically solid against Cleveland and free trade. The list of democrats who have declared for protection includes the following:

Jonathan Hiller, proprietor of the American hosiery mill.
Charles F. North, of the Anchor hosiery mill.
Charles F. Doyle, of the Anchor hosiery mill.
David Akin, of W. H. & D. Akin.
W. H. Akin, of W. H. & D. Akin.
David Fuld, of Fuld & Bochlowitz.
Herman Bochlowitz, of Fuld & Bochlowitz.

Jonathan Hiller, proprietor of the American hosiery mill, held the office of trustee, fire commissioner and school commissioner at Cohoes, being elected on the democratic ticket. He voted and worked for Cleveland's election in 1884. Mr. Hiller says:

"I will not vote for Cleveland this year. I shall vote for Harrison and Morton and the republican congressional nominee in this district. I have been a democrat all my life. I voted for Cleveland four years ago. I do not like his tariff ideas, and so I cannot vote for him, for we need protection in our business. Protection is absolutely necessary to maintain the knit-goods industry in Cohoes."

Charles F. North, of the firm of North & Doyle, proprietors of the Anchor hosiery mill, was elected an alderman by the democrats, and for four years he was the democratic chamberlain of the city. He now represents the democratic party as fire commissioner in the board, which is non-partisan. Mr. North says:

"I shall vote for Harrison and Morton and Protection this fall. As I look at it, protection is more necessary for the employe than for the manufacturer. A reduction of the tariff would necessitate a cut in wages just so much. If Cleveland should be elected the employes would be forced into idleness."

Charles F. Doyle, senior member of the law firm of Doyle & Fitts, is a partner of Mr. North in the Anchor hosiery mill. Says Mr. Doyle:

"I have always voted on state and national politics my party ticket—the democratic. This year I believe there is but one thing for a man who is engaged in the knit-goods business and who is looking for his own protection—and that the protection of the business interests of Cohoes—and that is to vote against Cleveland. Free trade would shut up the knitting mills of Cohoes, and throw out of employment between 5000 and 6000 operatives."

Herman Bochlowitz, of the firm of Fuld & Bochlowitz, says:

"I shall vote for Harrison and Morton and for the republican congressional nominee this fall. I voted for Buchanan the first time I voted, and I have voted for the democratic presidential candidates all along until now. My interests demand that I shall vote for the republican candidates and protection. I shall cast my first republican vote for president for Mr. Harrison. Free trade would close all the mills in Cohoes."

David Fuld, senior member of the firm of Fuld & Bochlowitz, says:

"I have been a democrat all my life, but this fall I shall vote for Harrison and Morton. I am for protection."

The democratic free trade newspapers have quoted David John Johnston, superintendent of the Harmony mills, Cohoes, as representing that great industry. Mr. Johnston is for free trade. Here is what Hon. William E. Thorn, treasurer and agent of the Harmony mills and representing with the Garner estate over two-thirds of the entire stock of the company, says about it:

"None of the owners or stockholders or parties representing the well-being of the Harmony concern is at all tinctured with the tariff heresy, except Mr. Johnston. He stands alone on the free trade platform. We are for protection for American industries, American labor and American institutions! England indorses Cleveland's message and is delighted with the Mills bill. England will indorse anything that has a tendency to bring about free trade in America in the hope that she can monopolize American markets with the products of her cheap labor."

WEST VIRGINIA RECRUITS.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 17.—Mr. Wm. L. Hearne, for forty-eight years an active, leading democrat, and one of the most prominent manufacturers of West Virginia, being president of the West Virginia China Company, which has the largest pottery in the world, and a leading member of the Riverside Iron and Steel Company, the most important industry in this valley between Pittsburg and Cincinnati, this evening announced his purpose to vote for Harrison on the protection issue. Mr. Hearne says his son Frank, general manager of the Riverside works and one of the best known manufacturers in the country, stands in the same position. His three younger sons will also vote for Harrison. He made up his mind when Cleveland's tariff message came out not to vote for a man who evinced such a hostility to manufacturers, such an unnatural desire to foster British industries at the expense of American industries. But he did not then decide to vote the republican ticket. He now declares his intention to do so, though he declares he is still a democrat and wants to administer a wholesome rebuke to Cleveland and his followers. His defection causes much alarm among the local democracy.

ONE DAY AT A TIME.

One day at a time! That's all it can be;
No faster than that is the hardest fate;
And days have their limits, however we
Begin them too early and stretch them too late.

One day at a time!
It's a wholesome rhyme!
A good one to live by,
A day at a time.

One day at a time! Every heart that aches,
Knowing only too well how long they can seem;
But it's never to-day which the spirit breaks—
It's the darkened future, without a gleam.

One day at a time! When joy is at height—
Such joy as the heart can never forget—
And pulses are throbbing with wild delight,
How hard to remember that suns must set.

One day at a time! But a single day,
Whatever its load, whatever its length;
And there's a bit of precious Scripture to say
That, according to each, shall be our strength.

One day at a time! 'Tis the whole of life;
All sorrow, all joy, are measured therein;
The bound of our purpose, our noblest strife,
The one only countersign sure to win!

One day at a time!
It's a wholesome rhyme!
A good one to live by,
A day at a time!

THE STORY OF A NUGGET.

The Costly Memento Kept by an Old Californian.

A San Francisco Merchant Relates a Thrilling Episode of His Early Life—Greed for Gold Almost Makes Him a Criminal.

San Francisco Alta.

Lying snugly on an ebon-hued velvet cushion in the cabinet which occupies an alcove in the library of one of the most elegantly appointed and substantial mansions of San Francisco there is a memento of the California of forty years ago—a silent reminder of days when the yellow idol, whose shrine was in the old river beds and among the rocky mountain sides of the then new land, counted his fiercely eager devotees by the thousand.

Several days ago business matters called an Alta representative to the residence in question and necessitated a lengthy interview with the genial gentleman whose home it is. The reporter had risen to go when his eye chanced to catch a dull, yellow gleam from a glass-covered case close at hand. Another glance disclosed as the object which had attracted attention a solid, massive nugget, that bore every appearance of being virgin gold, and that certainly must have weighed enough to make its value seem a small fortune to the average man. Considering that people, even wealthy ones, do not, as a general rule, select such articles for bric-a-brac ornaments, curiosity was pardonable, and the reporter asked, with a quasi-apology for his inquisitiveness: "Would you mind telling me, Mr. ——, why and how you chose that monster nugget for the place of honor in your cabinet?"

The response to the interrogatory was delayed for a moment as the nugget's possessor mused in silence. "Well, it is not a story that I often tell, because it makes me live over again the days that were often too bitter to make pleasant recollections, but I'll waive my scruples this time, young man, and tell you a little piece out of my life that that lump of gold was connected with. Sit down again and take a cigar, and I'll satisfy your curiosity. Only I want it understood that if you make a yarn out of this (as you probably will) you call no names."

The condition imposed was not obnoxious and the reporter's assent to it was willingly accorded. Mr. ——, who is, by the way, one of this city's oldest and best known residents, a genuine pioneer, now rich, respected, and honored, settled himself for a comfortable talk, and thus began:

"You most likely know what a motley crew it was that swarmed into California in the 'good old times,' as they call them. We were the representatives of nearly every grade and condition of society. Scions of the bluest blood aristocracy rubbed shoulders with gamblers and thieves from the slums; white-handed professional men, doctors, lawyers and clergymen swung their picks and rocked their cradles in the same claim with burly roughs who couldn't read nor write. I was a healthy young chap; had been nicely brought up, was fairly well educated, and was used to better pickings; but a roving strain in my blood, and a paternal purse that refused, from necessity, to respond any longer to my sometimes heavy demands, were responsible for my coming out here.

"Passing over the first few months, in which I learned what faro and monte were, at an expense that left me absolutely without a cent in the world, I'll begin with the time when I drifted somehow up to Carter's Bend, on the north fork of Feather river. When I walked into the place I was the dustiest-looking, out-at-elbows tramp that ever trudged a California road—dead broke, not enough dust to buy a short drink, no tools to work with, and desperately hungry. But the boys were too open-hearted in those days to let a poor fellow starve, and I was as happy as a king that night after I'd stuffed myself with fried bacon and pancakes, and had rolled myself up in an old army blanket in the corner of a good-natured miner's shanty. Next day the boys 'chipped in' and gave me enough of an outfit to make work possible. The diggings were new, and I had no difficulty in getting a claim that at least paid for my daily necessities. Two or three weeks later I struck it rich and took out enough the first day to make me begin to think of home and a big bank account some day soon. I was only a youngster, and had worked myself sick already and I was fool enough to tell all all over camp about my good luck. Early the next morning I started for my hole and found it had been 'jumped.' The two roughs who were profiting by my find were not disposed to be at all gracious, and, in a word, I was soon lying on the ground with my head split open with a blow from a pick handle.

"When I came to my senses I was in the cabin of a queer old fellow who had been more than commonly civil to me before. The effects of the thrashing I had received and my previously weakened and exhausted condition left me an easy prey to the fever that followed. For three weary months Jim (Jim Willis was my benefactor's name) nursed me as though I were his own child. He even fed me with his own hand, and when I was at the worst for days and days he left his work untouched and sat by me, bathing my poor aching head. Twice he rode seventy miles over the mountains and out of his scanty savings paid for a doctor, to bring me the medicine that pulled me safely through the crisis of the disease. Was it at all strange that I grew to look upon Jim as my best friend in the world, or that I loved him, yes, loved him better than anybody or anything on earth? Why, I often thought that I would have died, and died gladly, for Jim. God bless the dear old fellow's memory! There never breathed a truer or a nobler gentleman than Jim.

"Finally, when I got to be strong enough to do something for myself Jim came to me and said: 'Walter, my boy, we're on our last legs about. The claim's cleaned out, and there's not half a dozen ounces in the sack.' To make a long story short, we were relocated a few days later in a place some twenty or twenty-five miles distant, where some big finds were being made. Our luck was almost phenomenal. Every night the buckskin sack in which we stored our treasure was made considerably heavier. This went on until we both were sure of realizing our utmost hopes of fortune.

"One morning, the first thing after I jumped into the hole, I turned up a nugget, a bowlder of pure gold that fairly took my breath away.

"I just knelt down and kissed its yellow sides and cried over it and acted like a crazy man. When Jim saw it he too went nearly wild; it was such a big one. We didn't work any more that day, but laid out under the trees with the nugget safe between us, planning what we were going to do with our wealth.

"Some way or another, however, the nugget had brought over me a queer feeling of distrust of everybody around me. I fancied that every one in camp wanted to rob me of my heavy hoard of dust. I even watched old Jim (I ought to have been struck dead for that) lest he should make away with the treasure. That night I was wakeful, knowing that the whole camp was aware of our great luck, and fearful that some of the more lawless crowd might attempt a robbery during the darkness. Some time along in the morning I woke with the cold perspiration oozing from every pore. I felt, rather than knew, that something was wrong. I reached over to where Jim slept and found his blankets—empty. Next, to where the treasure was buried. My hands could hardly perform their office as I tore up the earth. It was gone.

"I rushed out into the faint moonlight. Not a soul was in sight. I hurried back, got a revolver, slipped on boots and trousers, and ran toward the nearest cabin, intending to give the alarm, but just as I passed a little thicket I saw Jim kneeling over what I knew instinctively was the stolen gold. Slipping softly up over the grass-carpeted ground, I clutched my heavy revolver by the barrel and raised it to strike. At that instant, and as the blow, aimed with all my strength, descended, there was a rush behind me, an oath, a shot, and I knew no more. When I awoke Jim's lifeless body was lying near me covered with a rough blanket. A group of stern, faced miners stood about me, and as I arose I was seized and pinioned. When I collected my scattered wits enough to ask what it all meant, the answer was merely to point to the pistol still grasped in my hand and to the ugly wound that showed where a heavy blow had crushed in Jim's head. Suffice it to say that the peculiar circumstances of the affair were such as to make my guilt doubtful, and that I found no difficulty in burrowing my way out of the shanty where I [illegible] days and weeks [illegible] hills, living [illegible] the undergrowth [illegible] with grief and [illegible] the man who had [illegible] to whom I had [illegible] could have [illegible] any justification [illegible] gladly have given [illegible] could have brought him back.

Wednesday, July 25.

Merchandise arrivals by rail include 16 bls agricultural implements, 14 pkgs hardware, 2 pkgs machinery, 2 castings, 30 sheets iron, 24 plates iron and 6 bars, 10 cs canned fruit, 1 carload wagons, 5 pkgs wagon material, 20 pkgs clothing, 10 pkgs domestics, 15 pkgs dry goods, 66 pkgs glassware, 314 bxs tobacco, 3 cs cigars, 39 cs boots and shoes, 89 pkgs furniture, 130 cs horse blankets, 3 bbls varnish, 35 cs molasses, 17 pkgs woodenware, 7 pkgs tent material, 16 bbls whisky, 2 bxs soda, 15 bxs rubber goods and 9 safes.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours include 7032 ctls wheat, 767 bbl flour, 340 ctls oats, 83,704 lbs wool, 105 ctl millstuff, 4312 lbs hides, 160 bales hay, 1 car and 39 bxs fruit, 16 pkgs butter, 114 pkgs eggs, 155 head cattle and 189 head sheep.

WHEAT—Valley in light supply and little or no business doing; nominal, $1 22½@1 25. Walla Walla moving fairly for season of the year, averaging about 200 tons daily. Stocks on hand are moderate and sufficient for present and immediate future wants. Quote $1 15@1 17½.

Eastern markets made a sharp advance towards the close, July option in Chicago advancing 2c from yesterday's closing, and 1½c at New York.

San Francisco firm and active, with prices the turn better.

Foreign markets quiet but firm, with we weather in England.

OATS—Very weak at 36@38c. There is any quantity of old oats in stock, with the new crop to hear from. It is believed tha the yield of oats in Oregon this year will b larger than for any previous season.

EGGS—Steady at 20c.

The Merchandise Markets.

Warm weather has prevailed during the week, but at the close it is cooler. Receipts of harvest machinery continue steady. A large quantity of harvesting and threshing machines are coming in and being shipped to the country. The trade in this line this year is fully as large or larger than that of last year, and with the present favorable crop prospects, collections promise to be better than a year ago. Trade, on the whole, is healthy. The quality of grain is also greatly improved. In many sections, owing to poor crop prospects early in the season farmers curtailed their purchases of machinery, and are consequently not so much in debt.

Salmon shipments to San Francisco and the East have shown an increase during the week. It is estimated that about 75,000 case will be shipped to England this season. N vessel has yet cleared foreign with salmon Monday of this week the average catch pe boat on the lower Columbia was twenty-five fish but the day following the averag dropped to twelve or fifteen fish. The ru in the river the past two weeks has bee much better than for the corresponding period a year ago, and it is believed that i will bring the pack close up to last year' figures. Prices for standard brands ar nominally $1 61@1 65. The market is dul for second quality goods from outside rivers.

Sugar is steady at last prices.

Grain bags are steadily held and sales ar free at 8½c. The San Francisco market i also steady. Indications point to highe values. There is no surplus stock of any consequence. Coast dealers usually carr over from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bags from one season to the following one, but th hold-over stock this year will be very much shorter, perhaps less than one-half, and wil be still smaller if present prospects of possi ble requirements are realized. Indication are that the requirements of Oregon an Washington territory this year will b larger than at any time in the history of th Northwest. Umatilla county is the onl place which reports a shortage but the yiel in the Northwest, in fact of the Willamett valley alone, will so overshadow this sho age that it will be hardly perceptible. Th Northwest never had a more auspicious out look than at the present season.

Hardware prices rather favor buyers. Stocks are pretty full and trade fairly good. Nails are firm at $3 10 for base.

In the markets but few changes in price are shown. Finances are in good shape an collections generally are not complained o

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET REVIEW.

San Francisco, July 25.—Wheat is bu ant at the advance, and would be still high in sympathy with the rising foreign m kets, were not ships scarce and high. Iron ships to England 30s is freely bid refused.

Oats are in light receipt and strong, the high asking prices repel buyers.

Choice butter is scarce and prices h again advanced, while lower grades are and not over firm.

Cheese is firm and in fair demand.

Hops are stagnant. Some contracts h recently been made for the new crop Washington territory at 10 to 10½ cents, even this little movement has subsided.

Wool is dull, and the uncertainty atte ing congressional tariff legislation tend keep it so. Beef and mutton are plent while hogs continue in light receipt firm.

Sugar has gone down. The rapid adva is checked now, and the market is now q Speculative lots bought before prices wer are now offering under refinery rates. this checks business somewhat. Can are not buying as freely as they did sev weeks ago.

[illegible] is firm and in fair demand.

[illegible] are stagnant. Some contracts have [illegible] been made for the new crop in [illegible] territory at 10 to 10½ cents, but [illegible] little movement has subsided.

[illegible] is dull, and the uncertainty attending [illegible] tariff legislation tends to [illegible]. Beef and mutton are plentiful, [illegible] hogs continue in light receipt and [illegible]

[illegible] gone down. The rapid advance [illegible], and the market is now quiet. [illegible] bought before prices went up [illegible] under refinery rates, and [illegible] business somewhat. Canners [illegible] as freely as they did several [illegible] from central markets report choice hams very scarce and advancing rapidly. Within the past few days hams have advanced one cent per pound.

Canned fruits are very active, chiefly on overland account, as local inquiry is insignificant. The reduction in overland freights has stimulated trade in a marked degree. Canned salmon is very firm, owing to large sales and continued reports of a moderate pack on the Columbia river.

Lumber has been reduced $1 per thousand, and laths 25c. The demand, however, is not particularly slack.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Receipts—Wheat, 249,000 ctls; flour, 6400 qr sks; barley, 6700 ctls; oats, 365 ctls; potatoes, 1800 sks.

Freights—Inactive, grain tonnage being held above shippers' views. Chartered for lumber, from Puget sound to Sydney bktn Wrestler. Lumber, Puget sound to West coast Ital bk Cornelio Zino.

Wheat—The market has a firmer tone, with an improved demand for both export and speculative account. No. 1 shipping quotable at $1 36¼ and $1 37½, figures which bring out considerable stuff. Options active and higher. Sales, morning session were 1200 tons buyer year at $1 52½; 500 tons at $1 52⅝; 500 tons at $1 52¼; 1100 tons at $1 52⅝, buyer season, 100 tons at $1 50; December $1 47. Afternoon sales were 200 tons buyer year at $1 52¾; 300 tons at $1 52⅞; 100 tons at $1 52½; 200 tons at $1 52⅝; August $1 39.

Barley—There more is strength shown in the sample market, with more business passing. No. 1 feed 78¾@80c; common grades, 72½@75c; brewing, fair to choice, 85@95c. Options quieter; buyer year opened 92⅝c, closed 93c; buyer season opened $1 00⅞.

Oats—Soft tone to the market and trade dragging. Prices favor buyers. Quote feed choice $1 32½@1 35; No. 1 feed $1 27½@1 30; lower grades $1 20@1 25.

Millstuff—Bran quiet and easy at $15@16 50; middlings steady, $16 50@18 50.

Bags—Irregular, dull; outside lots quoted 8@8¼c; combine prices unchanged.

Butter—Firm, good demand; choice fresh rolls 28@31c.

Eggs—Firmer and higher; fresh ranch 28@30c.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

If you once try Carter's Little Liver Pills for sick headache, biliousness or constipation, you will never be without them. They are purely vegetable; small and easy to take. Don't forget this.

MRS. DART'S TRIPLETS.

President Cleveland's Prize for the three best babies at the Aurora County Fair, in 1887, was given to these triplets, Mollie, Ida and Ray, children of Mrs. A. K. Dart, Hamburgh, N. Y. She writes: "Last August the little ones became very sick, and as I could get no other food that would agree with them, I commenced the use of Lactated Food. It helped them immediately, and they were soon as well as ever, and I consider it very largely due to the Food that they are now so well."

Cabinet photo. of these triplets sent free to the mother of any baby born this year

RAN AWAY FROM HOME.

Trying Scene Between Mother and Daughter at the City Jail.

A Girl Who Was Enticed Into Disreputable Associations Defends the Man Who Took Her Away.

Ella Bryan, a 16-year-old girl, was brought from Astoria yesterday by Chief of Police Barry of that city, and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Bryan, who lives at 120 S. Fifth street, and all day yesterday was allowed to reflect upon her wayward course in the front cell of the city jail. She is a small sized girl, of fairly good looks, and was neatly dressed. Her mother is a small woman, a widow, on whose face the story of care, patience and sorrow is plainly written.

Before and after the session of the police court Mrs. Bryan spent some time in conversation with Counselor Charles A. Petrain, who represented the state. She told him that her daughter left home July 2, and went to Astoria in company with one James Ellis, who, she said, placed her in a disorderly house. In addition, she stated that Ellis paid attention to Ella all last winter. He was out of town for quite a period, but continued sending letters to Ella. Mrs. Bryan wanted Ellis arrested and prosecuted for his treatment of her daughter.

Mr. Petrain, Mrs. Bryan and two reporters next visited the wayward girl in the front cell of the jail, but their conversation did not elicit any information with a tendency to criminate Ellis. Miss Bryan was strongly inclined to shield Ellis and at times was rather curt, if not saucy, in her answers, which called forth the disapproval of her mother, who sat on a lounge and looked anxiously in the face of her child, who tried as much as possible to avoid the gaze of her parent. Ella controlled her emotions for some time, but burst into tears when questioned about her conduct and admonished by her mother to tell the truth. In reply to numerous questions she told a somewhat connected story, which seemed to throw all the blame for her actions on her own shoulders. She began by candidly admitting that she left home July 2. "I stayed a week at the house of a girl-friend before going to Astoria," she continued, sobbing all the time. "About two weeks ago I went on the Astoria night boat. Ellis was there. He did not know I was going, nor did I know he was going. At Astoria he frequently visited me."

"Now Ella, why don't you tell the truth?" put in Mrs. Bryan her eyes filling with tears. "You know that Ellis took you to Astoria and ruined your character. You might as well tell all, so that we can find Ellis. The night you left he was waiting in the lot opposite your home for you. While I was away you came home and got your clothes and threatened to break the door if your little brother did not let you in. And Ellis put you in a dance house at Astoria."

"I never put a foot in a dance house," was the sharp reply.

"Don't be saucy, now," said her mother quietly.

"Do you know where Ellis is now?" asked Mr. Petrain.

"No, I do not."

By this time Ella had begun to recognize the gravity and shame of her situation and hung her head and sobbed bitterly. Her mother cried in sympathy and made a final effort to awaken a spirit of humanity and filial affection in her child.

"No one in all this world cares for you but your mother, a poor widow," she said affectionately. "No one cares what becomes of you but I. I have worked hard for you, that you might graduate from school and become a lady, but you disregarded my wishes and now you have disgraced yourself. You are breaking your poor mother's heart."

Ella bowed her head contritely, and heard what her mother had to say with a semblance of respect and devotion. Then the other persons in the room withdrew, and left the mother and her daughter and Mr. Petrain alone.

No warrant had been issued for Ellis's arrest up to a late hour yesterday afternoon.

WANTS $50,000 DAMAGES.

Suit Against the O. & C. by an East Portland Woman and Her Husband.

Mrs. Sarah Shaver of East Portland began suit in the U. S. circuit court yesterday against R. Koehler as receiver of the Oregon & California railroad to recover damages in the sum of $50,000, for injuries received by being thrown from a train on that road. Plaintiff alleges that on October 19, 1887, she took passage on one of defendant's trains from East Portland for Wilbur, Douglas county. She was ignorant of the time and place at which to leave the train and relied wholly upon the conductor for information. About midnight the train drew near Wilbur and stopped and she was willfully and with gross negligence told that she had reached her destination and to leave the car, and being thus deceived went out on the platform to alight. The train had in fact stopped at a point where there was no place to alight and that while she was on the platform the train was started and she was thrown from the car to the ground, breaking her leg, injuring her spine and was otherwise injured, whereby she is permanently lamed. Wherefore she asks the court to award her damages in the amount above named.

G. W. Shaver, husband of the plaintiff in the above mentioned suit, has also begun a similar suit against Mr. Koehler to recover $500 through expenses incurred owing to the sickness of his wife from her injuries in being thrown from the train.

THE STAGE.

MINSTRELS COMING.—Dead-walls and bill-boards are now fairly ablaze with pictorial splendors, informing the public that the McIntyre & Heath minstrels are very soon to appear in this city. The company will appear at the New Park theater next Monday evening. Judging from the press notices the company is an excellent one and the performance worthy of liberal patronage. The Des Moines State Leader of a recent issue says: McIntyre & Heath's minstrels gave a most satisfactory entertainment at the Grand last evening to a large audience. The company is a strong one and has undoubted merit to recommend it to public favor. The jokes for a rarity, are found after careful investigation, not to have been inscribed on the Egyptian obelisks, but are sparkling, bright and modern, mirth-provoking and new. The songs, as rendered, were creditable and keenly enjoyed. In the domain of minstrelsy the troupe occupy a front seat, and never fail to realize the high expectations of an audience. Their return to Des Moines will be looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation by the amusement public, and their reappearance here would be greeted by a full house.

HE FENCED IN PUBLIC LANDS.

A Wholesale Grabber Ordered to Remove Barriers to Settlement.

Mr. James a McCormick, who left here about June 1 with Special Land Agent Maj. J. D. Brockenbrough, to visit Jesse D. Carr's ranch in Modoc county, Cal., and see if the report that Mr. Carr had fenced in a large lot of government lands were true, returned here yesterday. Mr. McCormick was a special agent himself at one time, but after President Cleveland was elected, was removed in the interests of civil service reform, and returned to his home in New York.

He was engaged by the land department to come out and assist Major Brockenbrough in some matters which he had investigated while in office. Mr. McCormick reports that they visited the great Carr ranch and made a careful measurement of it, and found that Mr. Carr had 60,000 acres of land inclosed at the north end of Clear lake. He has a color of title to 15,000 acres of this land and the remainder belongs to the public domain. The tract is inclosed by twenty miles of stone wall and twenty-five miles of wire fence and rim rock. The wall is five feet in hight and five feet wide at the base, and fifty Swedes and fifty Chinese were employed on it for two seasons. It cost about $20,000.

This extensive inclosure prevents access to water from a large tract of country, the settlement of which has been thus prevented. Maj. Brockenbrough ordered the wall and fence to be taken completely down and the land thrown open to the public. A son of Mr. Carr, who was in charge of the ranch, promised that he would remove them, but people in that section have no idea that he will.

Mr. Jesse D. Carr is a sort of democratic boss, and bets are freely offered that the administration will not force him to tear down his wall or fence, and that they will remain intact. If Maj. Brockenbrough's orders are not complied with the matter will be laid before the United States district attorney of that district, and then it will be seen how much in earnest the administration is about enforcing the law in California. Maj. Brockenbrough is at Linkville trying cases in the land office against Peter French.

COMMITTED BURGLARY FOR FUN.

Extraordinary Excuse Given for Breaking Into a Dwelling.

A practical joker named Frank Kemper now lingers behind the bars in the city jail and doubtless regrets that he had ever taken lessons in the practical joke line. He was arrested at 4 o'clock last Sunday morning by Policeman Arnold. He had a slight acquaintance with M. Campbell, and at that early hour started to pay him a visit at his home, near Fourteenth and Market streets. Finding the doors locked he entered the front room by a side window and removed his shoes. Then he wended his way through a hallway occupied by some children and was standing behind a door when discovered by Mr. Campbell's mother. Mrs. Campbell next awoke and screams of murder and fire were in order. Kemper made his exit by the window he entered, closely pursued by Mr. Campbell. He rushed shoeless down Market street and was overtaken at Eleventh by Policeman Arnold, who charged him with disorderly conduct at the station.

Yesterday Mr. Campbell preferred a charge of burglary against him. Kemper says he entered the house as a joke, that he simply wished to arouse "Mike" and take him down town and set up the drinks to him. Mr. Campbell does not appreciate such jokes. Kemper will have a hearing to-day.

WANT A BONUS FOR LEAVING.

The Chinese Lepers Demand $50 a Head for Emigrating.

Now that the bark Kitty is completing her cargo of lumber and will soon be ready to sail for China, the Chinese lepers who have so long been kept at the poor farm realize that they will soon be on the briny deep on the way to their celestial homes. The poor wretches have always professed a desire to be sent home, but in reality they are not anxious to go, as they are much more comfortably situated at the poor farm than most of their healthy, able-bodied countrymen are at home, having plenty to eat furnished them and nothing to do.

They know that the county authorities have secured transportation for them on the Kitty, and now say they will not go unless they each receive $50 to maintain them a while after landing. The Chinese have desired to be rid of them, and there will be no trouble about their being supplied with money and provisions enough.

It might be supposed that there would be some difficulty in landing such a set of unfortunates on the other side, but it must be remembered that there is no custom house at Hong Kong, and consequently no customs officers to be prying into the passenger lists of ships arriving there. It may be remarked that this has also helped to make Hong Kong the third largest shipping port in the world.

PRIZE FOR ROADSTER TROT.

A Fine Cart Donated for a Free-for-All August 11.

No Other Gentlemen's Races in the Meantime—Conditions of the Contest—In Active Training.

In pursuance to a call, published in yesterday's OREGONIAN, a meeting of the Multnomah Driving Association was held last night in the parlors of the Riverside hotel. W. B. King presided. The committee having in charge last Saturday's race meeting reported the net results of the day to be $154. Mr. Oliphant then read the following communication from Frank Bro.'s Implement Company:

To the Multnomah Driving Association:—Gentlemen:—We offer one of the celebrated Noyes roadcarts, of extra finish, as a prize to be trotted for by horses owned by members, in a race for the benefit of the association. The race to take place on the afternoon of Saturday, August 11, 1888; free for all horses owned by members and not having a public record of better than 2:55; Charles Albert not barred. Owners to drive to cart of minimum weight of eighty pounds; not more than three horses to trot together; winners trotting off for final decision.

Race to be one-half mile heats; two in three; final race between winners the same.

Numbers corresponding to number of entries, to be drawn for places, numbers 1, 2 and 3 trotting together, and 4, 5 and 6, and so on.

Entrance fee $10, all entries to be made, and money paid to Mr. Smith, at the Riverside house, before 8 o'clock P. M. of Saturday, August 4, 1888. Cart and thirty per cent. of entrance money to first horse; forty per cent. of entrance money to second horse; thirty per cent. of entrance money to third horse.   FRANK BROS. IMPLEMENT CO.

The proposition, of course, met with great favor, and it was unanimously decided to accept it, and a vote of thanks to Messrs. Frank Bros. was also made unanimous.

The roll of those present was then called, and the following gentleman agreed to enter their horses: H. C. Leonard, E. C. Stewart, W. B. King, R. B. Knapp, Jack Holman and S. G. Reed, who named his Hambletonian gelding Laddie. An amendment to the classification part of the free for all race was made to read as follows: That if only six horses enter there will be three races of two horses each, instead of three, the final race of course to be between the three winners.

The following gentlemen were appointed to act as a committee of arrangements: Messrs. George H. Durham, J. W. Bailey and C. B. Bellinger.

NOTES.

B. F. Hayden has had his Magna Charta colt put through a course of sprouts.

George H. Durham's handsome bay gelding has been in training for two weeks past.

Jack Holman does his own training of his promising young Rockwood colt. He is out at the track every day.

J. W. Bailey also trains his 3-year-old bay mare, out of Decoration, and feels proud, as well he may, of her good form.

Arthur Wilson has placed Cereal in the trainer's hands, and became so lonesome that he has gone for a week's sojourn on Puget sound.

A number of the members of the Driving Association have turned their animals over to Mr. Cox, the trainer, and the races toward the latter end of the season promise to be speedy.

There will be no races at Riverside next Saturday nor the week following. On next Saturday there will be races at City View track, and some of the Association's horses will trot. On Saturday, October 4, the Caledonian Club will give its annual picnic at the Riverside grounds, having games and other athletic sports, as is the custom of the Scottish society.

BOATING NEWS.

The Willamette Rowing Club have three crews in training for the forthcoming regatta, which will take place in the cool of the evenings of three days. The first race will come off next Wednesday, the second race-day a week from then, and the third the succeding Wednesday. After these races are over the club will be prepared to meet any crew from the P. R. A. boathouse. Such a race, providing the P. R. A. can get together a crew, which seems doubtful, not from a lack of material, but from a want of spirit, could not come off before the last of August, and would prove a most interesting event.

ENLARGING THE THREE SISTERS.

One of the Oregon Pacific's Boats to be Lengthened Twenty Feet—The Portland.

For some time past the Orgon Pacific Railroad Company have had in contemplation the remodeling of their stern wheel steamer, The Three Sisters. In addition to being enlarged, the steamer will be also generally overhauled. The principal feature of the improvement will be to lengthen the boat. It is proposed to cut the steamer in twain and to build in about twenty feet of hull. This will give The Three Sisters a total length of 140 feet. The steamer has been brought down from the upper Willamette and is now moored just above U street, on the east side of the river.

The contract has been let to the Willamette Ship Building Company. The boat now lies at right angles with the river, with her prow cutting into the bank, waiting to be beached. She will not have to wait long, as preparations are now being made to pull her out on the incline. To-day or to-morrow the tackle and ways will be got in readiness, and the work of drawing the boat upon the bank will be commenced. The work will be pushed vigorously forward by the contractors until the improvement and repairs are completed. There will be no alteration or enlargement of the boiler, engines, machinery, etc.

By the time the water rises in the Willamette again, the extension of the Three Sisters will have been finished, and she will be ready to do her share of the up-river traffic.

At the same ship yard the little tug Portland lies high and dry on the bank, having been drawn up on the ways a few days since. This boat has been employed for a long time in towing scows and rafts about the river, but the owner of the Portland proposes to take the craft around to Yaquina bay. Before doing this the hull will be scraped, the seams recaulked and repainted. Her machinery will also be overhauled and cleaned up. Several men are now busily engaged at work on the boat.

NUMBERED WITH THINGS OF THE PAST.

Eastern Oregon Ranges Fast Disappearing Under Encroachments of Settlers.

Mr. L. Ralston, who has been in the cattle business in Gilliam county for some years, was in the city yesterday. He says the grass has been much improved by the late rains, but that the palmy days of cattle ranges in Eastern Oregon are past. The nutritious bunchgrass is fast disappearing before overstocked ranges and the encroachments of settlers. When he first went on his range he could cut two or three hundred tons of bunchgrass hay every season, and now he could mow and rake the whole range and not get a ton. The effect of this diminution of feed is plainly seen in the herds, steers at three and four years old now not averaging more in weight than two-year olds used to.

The days of big herds on big ranges and big profits or big losses are done. Where there was one settler a few years ago there are a hundred now, and with the contraction of the ranges they become overstocked and the native grasses fast die out. In many places horses can be kept for several years yet, but even they show in lack of growth the poor nature of their pasture. This state of affairs is rough on cattle men, but it is probably the best thing for the country. The greatest good for the greatest number should be the desire of all, and it is certainly better for the prosperity of the state that the vast prairies of Eastern Oregon should be settled and fenced in and occupied by thrifty farmers than that they should be used as ranges for wild roving bulls and ditto cow boys.

Duty on Type.

Providence (R. I.) Dispatch.

Democratic newspapers are interested in the price of type, at least. The Mills bill proposes a reduction of the duty on this "necessity of life" to 15 per cent. ad valorem. Our type founders say the passage of the bill would shut up every type foundry in the country. The labor on a piece of type represents six-sevenths of its cost. There is no excuse for raw material here. The skilled labor of the nation alone is interested. No type is made in Texas, we believe.

THE MOST ABSOLUTE

Assurance of Increase

ON INVESTMENTS.

ALBINA

OREGON.

AN ENTERPRISING CITY.

THE TERMINUS OF [illegible]

THE NORTHWEST RAILROADS.

AS A PLACE FOR

INVESTMENT OF CAPITAL

IN REAL ESTATE

Or in manufacturing or other enterprises, ALBINA presents to-day the most absolute assurance of the largest increase on such investments of any spot in Oregon. It is beautifully situated on the river opposite the north end of Portland, and DOWN the river from the central portion of Portland. The bridges already built, under construction and contemplated, are fast driving the heavy business of the city and nearly all of the shipping further and further down stream. Soon all of it will be carried on below the railway and passenger bridge. Albina will get the benefit of this move, and even now she has

The Largest Docks and Warehouses in Oregon.

THE MAMMOTH

Union Car and Machine Shops

Built by the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, in which the O. R. & N. Co., the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific Companies are interested, are located here. These shops have just been completed, and will soon commence operations with a large force of workmen.

Other industrial enterprises are located here, among which are the Portland Flouring Mills, the largest in Oregon. A Dry Dock, capable of accommodating the largest ship afloat, is now also under construction.

Several companies are now organizing to embark in other industrial and manufacturing enterprises, all of which will be located at Albina, because

IT IS HERE THAT EVERY RAILROAD TERMINATES

That runs into the Pacific Northwest, and all enterprises of magnitude must first take into consideration the transportation facilities when deciding on a locality for their plant.

TWO STREET-CAR LINES TO RUN

Through the Central Portion

Of the city and across the peninsula to the banks of the Columbia, are to be pushed vigorously to completion, one being now under construction, and the franchise procured and iron ordered for the other.

No other locality in Oregon has such solid, substantial backing. No other spot in Oregon can have just the peculiar combinations of

FOR BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE

Purposes that beautiful and sightly table land lying north and east of Albina, standing on which one overlooks the river, with its vessel life and the whole city of Portland.

Considering the bright prospects for immediate and rapid growth, property in all parts of Albina is remarkably low, lots ranging from $100 up, according to location.

Its enterprising people have built fine churches and school houses, put in water works, are grading and improving streets, and are determined to keep fully abreast of the the times. Any one having a few dollars to spare will
